WHITE ON 160 MILLION TAX CUT

GRUNDY YELLOW, SAYS CARAWAY, FIGHT AVERTED

Lobby Quiz Apology Cools Anger.

BY WILLIAM LAWSON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Joseph R. Grundy, millionaire lobbyist for Pennsylvania industries, and Senator T. H. Caraway (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the senate lobby investigating committee, were on the verge of a fight for a moment today when Senator Grundy, the former lobbyist, being called "yellow" because he declined to list senators from "backward" states he contends have too much voice in the fixing of national policies. Grundy had insisted it would be "improper" and "unbecoming" to him to make such a distinction. "I want to strike from the record what I said about Mr. Grundy being yellow," Caraway repeated to the stenographer as he grasped the veteran lobbyist's right hand, and then, facing the latter, with his left hand on Grundy's shoulder, he continued, "Because, after all, I like him."

"I think," he added, Grundy, who apparently was mollified by the demonstration, "you told the truth, and I'm going to make a report to that effect to the senate."

Long before the hour set for the committee's meeting the hearing room was crowded to capacity with spectators who had been led to believe that Grundy would be promptly cited for contempt of the senate unless he made good on a promise to produce a list of senators, "common and preferred," specifying those whose voice is the adoption of major national policies, particularly tariff, according to his theory, should be proportioned in volume to the contributions of their states to the federal treasury. Those who doubted the pertinency of the demand to a lobby investigation were surprised Grundy would be compelled to comply or face contempt proceedings.

Another Brief Filed.

Instead of submitting the list yesterday, Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association, filed another brief in support of his contention that the states which contribute the least to the national upkeep and receive the most in federal appropriations demonstrate their "backwardness" by sending "obstructionists" to congress to hamper legislation affecting the great tax paying industrial states.

"You know," began Senator Caraway this morning, "you agreed to give us a list of your 'approved' senators and you did not do it."

"No," answered Grundy.

"But you did send a mighty fine argument on why some states are mightier than others, and by the way, I notice you have changed your mind about Virginia. I suppose the election the other day changed your mind. It slipped out of your good graces when I asked you to do it."

"No," answered Grundy.

Stock Exchange After Bear Raiders

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

He Asks the Question: "What Caused the Collapse of the Stock Market?"

SECY. J. W. GOOD HOLDS HIS OWN; ILLNESS GRAVE

Wife of War Minister at Bedside.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Secretary of War James W. Good was "resting easy" at Walter Reed hospital tonight following an emergency operation performed this morning for acute gangrenous appendicitis. Army surgeons in attendance described the secretary's condition as extremely critical, but very satisfactory considering the seriousness of the operation.

George E. Akerson, President Hoover's private secretary, announced at 11:40 o'clock this evening that Secretary Good's condition was as good as could be expected. Mr. Akerson said no immediate change was expected by the army physicians and that no further bulletins would be given out tonight unless a decided change was registered by the patient.

Ruptured Appendix Removed.

Mr. Good slept for three hours following the removal of a ruptured appendix which occupied the attention of the surgeons for an hour and a half before the patient was able to leave the operating table. The secretary was lucid when he came out of the ether, but very weak. The physicians were encouraged at the time by the absence of nausea, which indicated that the fight to prevent spread of the local peritonitis in the region of the appendix might be successful.

The secretary's condition remained practically unchanged during the evening, and at 10:50 p. m., the attending physician informed John Martyn, Mr. Good's secretary, that their patient was sleeping much of the time. The surprising vitality exhibited by the 62 year old cabinet member, coupled with the lack of symptoms indicating that the peritonitis might be spreading, encouraged the army physicians to hope that their patient would begin to show real improvement after the first forty-eight hours.

Crisis May Come in 72 Hours.

According to information sent to the White House from the hospital, it was at least seven-two hours, however, from the time the operation took place before the critical condition could be said to be modified. President Hoover, who maintained close touch with the sick room during the day through Col. Joel T. Boone, his physician, was told that Secretary Good's reaction to the operation had been encouraging. The President was advised, however, that Mr. Good was very critically ill and that the nature of the operation, combined with the patient's age, made the situation a serious one.

An abnormal location of the appendix was disclosed by the operation, according to Col. William L. Keller, chief hospital surgeon. The appendix was found very deep down and close to the center of the abdomen, instead of in its normal position. This, together with the circumstance that local peritonitis prevailed, made the operation much more difficult, it was said, than is usually the case.

Mrs. Good Near Bedside.

Mrs. Good spent the day at the hospital and late this afternoon a room next to her husband was placed at her disposal. Arrangements were made by Mrs. Good to spend the night at the hospital so she would be ready if her presence was needed. Her room was filled with flowers, sent to the hospital by Washington friends and wives of cabinet members.

Secretary Good has been closely affiliated with the present administration since the Hoover boom for President was launched in 1924. During the campaign Mr. Good was western manager of the Republican forces.

Following the inauguration of President Hoover Mr. Good came to Washington as secretary of war. He is regarded as one of the President's closest political advisers.

Edison and winner of the Edison scholarship to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was reported ill with scarlet fever, and 21 students living at the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity house here were placed under quarantine today. Huston was to be removed to the Palmer Memorial hospital in the Brighton district tonight.

Orders Check by Brokers as Slump Goes On

BY FRED HARVEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Wall street started house cleaning today.

With stocks crashing by the hundreds to undreamed of new low records for the year as the bears continued their drive, the stock exchange took steps to forestall the mysterious undercurrent selling that has been playing hob with every effort to stabilize the market and bolster prices. It called upon every one of its members to come out in the open and state their position on the market in black and white.

The brokers must file not later than noon Saturday, Nov. 16, as of the close of business on Nov. 15—out of town members not later than Monday, Nov. 18—and daily changes thereafter until notified.

A list of stock borrowed, and from whom and for whose account.

Intra-office borrowings and for whose account.

A list of all stocks which they have failed to deliver, and for whose account.

Move to Uncover Big Bears.

The questionnaire is expected to reveal just who is in the market and what each is doing in the present situation—whether for good or ill.

The street has been mystified for several days by the steady tide of heavy selling and speculation is running high as to some of its sources and aims. There have been some ugly hints and rumors abroad and it is an effort to clear up the situation and find out just what's what that the exchange board is undertaking its checkup.

Meanwhile every new effort to rally prices on any considerable scale continued to fall today and prices drifted lower and ever lower.

And they acted today as they did yesterday and the day before and for two weeks—with a brief intermission or two—before that. There seems to be no letup in the tide of destruction.

The Principal Losers.

The outstanding losses of the day checked up as follows:

Stock	Loss
Am. Can.	88
Am. & For. Power	31
Am. Smelting	82 1/2
Anacosta	70 1/2
Baltimore & Ohio	8 1/2
Beth Steel	79 1/2
Can. Pac.	190 1/2
Chgo. & N. W.	4 1/2
Cons. Gas	40 1/2
Erie R. R.	45 1/2
Gen. Elec.	11 1/2
Gen. Motors	39 1/2
Gen. S. & O.	39 1/2

***
50. The surplus for the calendar year, 1929 is likely to amount to $60 million dollars or more. Even if the stock market losses during the current year are reflected in revenues of 1930 it is the belief of treasury officials that taxes can safely be reduced by $60 million dollars without threatening a deficit.

That Secretary Mellon should recommend a reduction in individual income taxes came as a surprise inasmuch as treasury officials have usually insisted that the small income tax payer is not excessively burdened. It had been expected that Mr. Mellon would propose a greater reduction for earned income but he failed to do so. Mr. Mellon also said nothing about a re-adjustment of middle surtax brackets on individual incomes or the repeal of the estate tax, both of which proposals have been advanced by him in the past but have met with rejection by congress.

In Line with Demands.
The proposal for a reduction in the tax on corporation earnings is in line with the demands of business organizations generally. The corporation tax, it is argued, has not been scaled down in the past as much as it should have been.

The cut from 12 to 11 per cent in the tax on corporation earnings will mean a revenue loss of $50,000,000 in revenues, it is estimated. The 1 per cent cut in the various individual tax rates will mean $50,000,000 additional loss.

Enactment of legislation by congress for a tax cut is regarded as an absolute certainty. In view of the general business situation and the fact that the administration proposals are of such a nature as to meet with general approval, it is quite likely that a joint resolution may be passed by both houses with a minimum of discussion.

Leaders at Conference.
Leaders of both parties in congress took part in a conference at the treasury which followed the White House meeting. Present at the treasury conference in addition to Secretary Mellon and Under Secretary Mills were Speaker Longworth, Representative John Q. Tilson (Rep., Conn.), majority leader of the house, Representative John Garner (Dem., Tex.), minority leader of the house; Senator Reed Smoot (Rep., Utah), chairman of the senate finance committee; Senator F. M. Simmons (Dem., N. C.), ranking minority member of the finance committee; Senator Pat Harrison (Dem., N. C.), a minority member of the committee; and E. C. Alvord, tax expert of the treasury.

It seems unlikely that any effort will be made to obtain enactment of the legislation during the remaining days of the session. Action is likely to be sought early in the regular session which convenes on Dec. 2. President Hoover will have an opportunity to urge action on the proposal in his message to congress.

13 WOULD HAVE HAD BAD LUCK WITHOUT 14TH
Sergeant William Crot of the detective bureau was hailed last night by a group of thirteen men standing at Michigan avenue and 32d street.

"Ah-ha-ha!" shouted one of the thirteen, "you're the fourteenth."

The sergeant made inquiry. The men told him they were all off for California in new automobiles to be delivered there. "All you have to do," they said, "is to put up a $25 bond and you can drive a car out there. Transportation free and your $25 back when you get there. There are fourteen automobiles to go. We're waiting for one more man."

Sergeant Crot made more inquiry. Then he went to a hotel on the corner and in one of the rooms found David Mazer, 22 years old, just ready to slip out the back way.

An investigation of Mazer's elaborate story proved it was all just a racket. There were no automobiles to be driven. There was no money back. There was only disappointment for the thirteen would-be drivers.

IDENTIFIED AS THEATER ROBBER.
Albert Lazen, 34 years old, 1265 East 63d street, was identified yesterday as the bandit who robbed the Grove theater at 76th and Cottage Grove avenue of $1,000 on Aug. 29. Miss Elizabeth Kelly, 7721 Union avenue, cashier of the theater, made the identification.

ANNULS FRENCH GIRL'S MARRIAGE TO ARMY CAPTAIN

Son of Congressman Had Wife, War Bride Says.

The wartime romance of a French war widow and an American army captain, which began in Paris in 1919 and resulted in marriage in Chicago in 1922, was dissolved yesterday by Superior Judge Sabath. Mrs. Andrew Hawley, 27 years old, 815 Harper avenue, won an annulment of her marriage to Cecil Hawley, son of Congressman Willis Cecil Hawley, Salem, Ore., after she testified that she learned in 1927 that her husband was already married.

Mrs. Hawley said she met her husband in Paris after the signing of the armistice. He was then a captain of engineers. Their friendship developed after a casual acquaintance in a cafe during the period of rejoicing at the end of the war.

Husband Killed in Battle.
She was then seventeen years old and already a widow. Her husband of a few months having been killed in the defense of Verdun. Hawley extended his sympathy and told her that he could appreciate her sorrow because he had lost his wife shortly before he enlisted, she told the court.

When he returned to this country they maintained a regular correspondence. In 1922 she came to Chicago to visit her sister. Hawley came to visit her and proposed marriage. They were married at La Porte, Ind., on Dec. 5, 1922. They lived in Kentucky until 1925, when they came to Chicago.

Hawley had returned to his profession of civil engineer after his discharge from the army. During their married life, she said, he was frequently absent from their home for three week periods. He explained that his duties necessitated these absences. In May of 1927 he left, presumably for New York, and she received no word from him for six weeks. She then wrote to his parents, whom she had never met.

Claims She's First Wife.
"I was astounded to receive a reply from a woman who claimed she was my husband's wife," Mrs. Hawley said. "This woman said she had been married to my husband several years before the war. She explained that he could not be held responsible for his second marriage because he had been shell shocked in the war. A recent operation had restored his faculties, she said."

"The letter was considerably written to spare me anguish, but its revelation left me dumfounded. I couldn't believe it. Later when I learned that it was true I decided that the first wife, Belle Hawley, had the prior claim and decided to let her have him."

Suit Filed in 1927.
Mrs. Hawley filed a suit for annulment in 1927 through Attorney Arthur L. Hoffman. The trial was delayed when the husband was sought. When he could not be found notice was obtained through publication.

Mrs. Hawley said that she had not seen her husband since he left her in 1927. She said she would not return to France and that she might marry again.

When policemen arrived, the burglar had fled.

41 MAROONED

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Nov. 13.—Six Europeans and 35 natives are marooned by floods between the White and Black Umfolosi rivers, in Zululand. They have now been there for five days. It is impossible to get any food over the rivers, which are raging torrents.

The party crossed the White Umfolosi river on Saturday, after which the river is said to have come down like a wall of water, making retreat impossible. Last night a phone message was received at Durban asking for immediate help. A boat was hurriedly dispatched to Empangeni, from where it will be transported to the south bank of the White Umfolosi 30 miles distant.

The party, which is taking pictures of wild game, includes Dr. Herbert Lang, naturalist, and R. H. Harris, entomologist, who is conducting a campaign against the tsetse fly and also is making a scientific research into the presence of the white rhinoceros in the Umfolosi rivers.

J. R. MONTGOMERY HOME ROBBED OF $5,000 JEWELRY
The home of John R. Montgomery, former president of the Chicago Bar Association, at 15 Green Bay road, Glencoe, was robbed of jewelry valued at more than $5,000 last night by a thief who entered the house while Mrs. Montgomery was entertaining at dinner. The burglar climbed up lat-ticework on the outside of the building and entered the second floor through French windows.

Mrs. Montgomery, who was giving the dinner for her niece, Mrs. May Maghee of New York, did not discover the loss until her guests went to the second floor for their coats. The loot included a ruby ring with ten diamonds; a pearl and topaz ring; an heirloom; a platinum bar pin with five diamonds; platinum shirt studs set with pearls; six diamond stockings; an opal ring; two unset diamonds and two unset pearls; and a plain gold wedding ring.

JAILED FOR ATTACKING Girl, Shooting Escort
Harley Cochran, 27 years old, 455 East State street, Hammond, was in the Hammond jail last night charged with shooting James Kovach, 22 years old, 3314 133d street, near Dyer, Ind., and with attacking Miss Gladys Armstrong, 22 years old, of 123 Pine street, Hammond. Kovach, who is in the St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, with a bullet wound in his hip, told the police that Cochran held him up on the Ridge road south of Hammond while he was driving with Miss Armstrong.

U. S. OFFICIAL'S DAUGHTER AIDS GARMENT UNION

Father Hears Vassar Girl in Stump Speech.

New York, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Charlotte Tuttle, 19 years old, made a flying trip this afternoon from Poughkeepsie, where she is a student at Vassar, to lend her support to local 38 of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, which is seeking to organize the workers in 5th avenue's exclusive shops.

She addressed a massmeeting of the workers at Central ranch, Y. W. C. A., at 5 o'clock, while her father sat in the front row of the audience. Her father, Charles R. Tuttle, is United States district attorney for the New York district.

Miss Tuttle's liberal sympathies were crystallized last summer when she worked in a Chicago cloth printing factory at $12 a week.

Dressed in a blue cord dress, with tan shoes and stockings, her light blonde hair framing her delicately chiseled face, Miss Tuttle had been smiling a bit nervously as she waited her turn to speak at the introduction by Boris Drayson, manager of the union local.

Thanks Her Audience.
"It is a great pleasure for me to come down from Poughkeepsie to address you this afternoon," she began, "but I feel I should thank you for coming here to listen to me, for you really know far more than I. I have only worked for a month and a half."

Then in the same modest vein she launched into a recital of her experiences in Chicago, where she went with 26 college mates, under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A., all of whom started out to tramp the streets from factory to factory in search of work.

"It was very difficult," she said, "it was much more difficult for us than it would be for you, because we had no skill."

Tells of Experiences.
Miss Tuttle continued with her own experiences, telling how she found work, together with a number of school children "obviously less than 16, the age required by law," in a printing factory where she spent nine hours a day pasting colored pages into books.

Then, beginning with the fact of her $12 wage, "which was really not a living wage," she drew parallels between her own experience and the advantages which the Fifth Avenue dressmakers would get if organized.

It would raise their wages, make their work more productive for themselves and shorten their hours, she told the assembled workers.

"If you had a union," she concluded, "I think it would be the pride of the whole labor movement in the United States. Can you not create a union as you do your dresses?"

D'ANNUNZIO FOLLOWS MOSES; CALLS NOTED ITALIANS "DONKEYS"

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ROME, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Gabriele D'Annunzio's witty comment on his not being named as a member of the newly inaugurated Italian Academy of Italy, is considered by Premier Mussolini as the best joke of the year, according to a story going the rounds of diplomatic circles here.

The famous poet's comment was, "A horse of pure blood such as I am cannot consort with donkeys." The duke is said to have laughed heartily.

The academy was recently instituted along the lines of the French Academy and consists of 40 notable personalities in letters, arts and sciences. But the public remarked that names like D'Annunzio's and Guglielmo Ferrero, a historian, and Benedetto Croce, another historian, were missing.

BANDITS' NITRO FAILS TO OPEN NAVY'S BIG SAFE
New York, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—A giant safe in the naval supply department in Brooklyn withstood for five hours today numerous charges of high explosives set off by a bandit gang who sought an $85,000 pay roll locked within.

The bandits had tied up the six base guards, all but two of them civilians, and locked them in their own "brig," but the massive doors of the safe stubbornly resisted the drills and nitroglycerin. With approaching dawn and a change of guards the bandits were forced to flee, unsuccessful in their quest for the loot.

Friendly Marine Captured, Too.
The raid on the naval base was skillfully executed. The raiders went about their business coolly and deliberately, overpowering one by one the six guards about the buildings. Each guard was securely bound and locked in the base jail. Even a marine policeman who dropped in for a chat with the guards fell into the hands of the raiders.

None of the victims was harmed except one, who was hit on the head with a pistol butt when he offered resistance.

"Insiders" Suspected.
The day guard, unable to get an answer to his signals upon arrival, broke into the building and released the prisoners.

Police believe the raid was an "inside job." Numerous civilians are employed at the base.

John McCarthy, civilian gang guard, who was the first to fall into the hands of the gang, said there were 15 men in the three machines that drove up in front of the building. Some must have stood watch outside, as only eight were counted by the inside guards.

CARLSTROM ASKS DISSOLUTION OF CITY STATE BANK

Depositors Expected to Get 80%.

Depositors of the City State bank, 130 North Wells street, entertained a hope of receiving eventually 80 cents or more on the dollar following the filing yesterday in Circuit court by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom of a petition seeking the dissolution of the bank. The petition, a sequel to the closing of the bank for examination by State Auditor Oscar Nelson on Nov. 2, was entered at the instance of the state auditor.

Figures cited in the petition, derived from a survey of the institution's resources and liabilities, which has been under way since the bank was closed, indicate a net loss upon the bank's books of $432,227.29. Paper held by the bank and deemed "doubtful or wholly worthless" is listed at a face valuation of $1,036,227.29.

Offsets Part of Loss.
To offset this, says the petition, the $400,000 paid in capital stock of the bank may be applied, and in addition the

CHICAGO JUDGES GIVEN LESSON IN MODERN JUSTICE

Learn from Ontario How to Speed Jury Picking.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 13.—In its first day of exploration of modernized jury systems, the Illinois and Cook county judicial advisory councils have discovered a land where red tape and legalistic hair splittings, and delays seem to be abhorrent to the courts, the judges, and even to the lawyers.

Judge Denis E. Sullivan and Harry K. Fisher of Chicago, State Senators James J. Barbour and A. S. Cuthbertson, Franklin L. Veide of the Illinois bar association, and others of the visitors are still expressing amazement over what they have heard. The purpose of the investigation, which has official standing by act of the Illinois legislature with the approval of Gov. Dummerston, is to prepare a program of changes in court machinery and procedure for submission to the next general assembly.

Pick juries in 30 minutes. The party has found eminent jurists here avowing that if it ever took more than 30 minutes in their courts to pick a jury they would regard it as exceedingly strange, not to say almost unprecedented. This was brought out by way of comparison with Cook county, where a week is nothing unusual to fill the jury box and where the time has sometimes rolled into months before twelve men were picked.

Another thing they learned is that bail is not granted in serious offenses. In contrast to this some of the visitors pointed out that one lingering complaint of the Chicago police has been that much crime is perpetrated by convicted murderers and other offenders out on bond. The latter is a criminal, so to speak, who commits a second crime to get money to pay the lawyers for defending him for the original crime.

Another discovery was that Ontario, back in 1851, kicked out of the window a lot of ancient procedure that is still cluttering up the court system in Illinois.

Judge Tully Ontario's View. Mr. Justice Riddell of the Supreme court of Ontario, who has had a long and distinguished career as a judge, laid down the Ontario view of the aims and designs and machinery of justice before the Illinois researchers for modernized court practice. The judge answered questions after a fashion tendered to the visitors by the Ontario bar.

"We are practical people and don't give precedence for form," said Mr. Justice Riddell. "We've got rid of a lot of rubbish. Our idea of the courts is not as a place for lawyers to have lawyers to string out technicalities to a hair, not as a place for gubernatorial combat between keen intellects and nimble wits, but as a place where the courts as a business institution, organized to give rights according to law to those coming before it, with a minimum of time and expense."

"What's your system of picking a jury?" asked Robert W. Millar, professor of law at Northwestern university. "There is one great difference between our system and that of some states where an extraordinary time is taken in drawing juries," replied the justice. "I'm not criticizing, nor am I a missionary. If your system does not suit your purpose, it's your own lookout."

How Juries Are Picked. "I've been in law many years. I've defended murderers and I've prosecuted some, and I have heard seven murder cases on the bench. In all my experience I never saw but once when it took more than thirty minutes to get a jury. That solitary case took 45 minutes."

"We have a jury list prepared by municipal officers before sunrise. The list is placed in the hands of the sheriff, when the jury is called, and names are picked out of an urn by the clerk. Twelve men file into the box and eight or ten stand behind. The judge has the right to examine. We have no such system of examining jurors as in some states where it takes long to pick a jury. I've known only one case where objection was taken to a juror for cause. We never do it."

"The crown prosecutor is expected to be absolutely fair. It's not his duty to convict but to be fair. Any system where a prosecutor is measured by the convictions he gets is abhorrent to Canadians."

"The jury list is available for four or five days before the impaneling. If there is a person who seems really objectionable, counsel can mention it to the prosecutor, who excuses him. "There are peremptory challenges, four, eight or more, according to the class of the case. Thirty minutes is the normal time to get a jury. Then, when picked, the same jury might hear four or five murder cases. It wouldn't be impossible."

"In Illinois," said R. Allan Stephens,

Heir to 100 Millions Weds Maid

William W. Willock Jr., 22 year old son of steel magnate and reputed heir to more than $100,000,000, and his wife, who was Adelaide Ingebert, 20 years old, a Norwegian immigrant of less than one year in the country and his mother's chambermaid. The picture was taken in their home in Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y. (Pacific and Atlantic Photo: Sent by telephoto.) (Story on page 1.)

"The jury is judge of the law and the facts. It reduces a litigation. We have no such thing as a demurrer—it's all rubbish."

"It's poppycock to make the jury judge of the law," replied Mr. Justice Riddell. "Some conservative states seem to be holding to what their grandfathers laid down for them. What the devil do we care for the opinions of our grandfathers on such details? The courts are not run for our ancestors but for modern people in a twentieth century setting."

"In 1851 we abolished the rubbish about separate common law and equity courts and united them in one court. We abolished the old system of pleading. We got rid of the old conflict between law and equity. The rules of equity prevail in the new practice where there was a difference."

"We have no constitutional limitations, as have some states. Here a man is not entitled to trial by jury but he is entitled to trial before a tribunal set by law. In three-fourths of our cases juries are not called."

"We have had a two-fifths reduction in cases by examination for discovery. Every town has three or four special examiners appointed by the Supreme court. Many actions are abandoned or Royal York hotel."

FRANK EXPLAINS WHY HE FISHES WITH HIS HANDS

But Old Man River and the Police Foil Him.

Lying face down on the piling under the Van Buren street bridge, Frank Milano, 24 years old, 3218 North Drake avenue, paddled and fished with his hands in the south branch of the Chicago river yesterday afternoon. James Bowland, the bridge tender, who found him there, yelled to him and tried to explain that he was trying to catch fish in the river, as the bridge could not open without crushing him to death.

Milano paid no attention to the warning and continued his paddling. Bowland joined Bowland and assisted him in yelling, but still Milano remained intent on the business in hand, not even turning to look at the gathering crowd.

Police Join the Crowd. Bowland called the police and a squad from the Central station added their voices to the din, without result. Then the policemen laid a plank from the shore to the piling and, stepping carefully onto Milano's perch, dragged him to shore. With a long hook they rescued his overcoat from one of the piles and took Milano to the station when he refused to answer their questions as to the reason for his conduct.

He Explains in Writing. At the police station, Milano by means of notes explained that he was deaf and dumb and had been out of work for four months. But still he hadn't explained why he was fishing in the river. More notes were exchanged before Milano made his purpose clear.

"I was in the wash room at the La Salle street station," his final note read. "I dropped a $5 bill and it went down the sewer. I ran out and down to the river bank where the sewer empties. I was trying to catch my $5 bill when it came out of the sewer out into the river."

But he didn't find it, perhaps because the police pulled him away in the midst of his search at the river bank.

LOSSES MILLION IN MARKET, SO KILLS HIMSELF
Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Stock market losses said to have aggregated a million dollars were believed responsible for the suicide of Robert M. Searle, president of the Rochester Gas and Electric corporation, at his home here today.

He was found on a bathroom floor at his home in Brunswick street by Herman Russell, vice president of the company. A gas jet was open and asphyxiation was given as the cause of death.

Searle came to Rochester yesterday from New York where he had been associated with the main office of the company.

NIGHT CLUB SET UP IN CEMETERY RAIDED; BAR A COFFIN TABLE

Peabody, Mass., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Disclosures of revels in a Peabody cemetery were made today by police who swooped down on a liquor party in the cemetery chapel Saturday night.

It was revealed for the first time that about 15 girls and some 20 men eluded the raiding party of 12 led by Chief Edward Pierce and Inspector James F. Murphy. Nine girls and 26 men were caught in the raid. The club had a $1 a head "cover charge" policy, and beer was sold at two glasses for 25 cents. Thirteen quarts were taken from a coffin table under the altar, and service on the road was being done in a tub in the cellar of the chapel.

500 RAILROAD WORKERS QUIT; SERVICE HALTS
Peoria, Ill., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Following a mass meeting here tonight, 500 employees of the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad went out on strike, and service on the road was suspended on orders of George P. McNear Jr., president.

Voting of the strike, according to labor leaders, followed failure of mediators to bring about a settlement of differences between the road and employees when the road refused to recognize various shop crafts.

Mr. McNear declared suspension of service was voluntary pending settlement of the trouble, but declined to comment on the action of the unions. He will issue a statement tomorrow, he said.

Except for engineers, clerks in yards and ticket offices, and a small number of laborers not affiliated with the maintenance of way and shop laborers union, all crafts employed by the road are affected by the strike order.

Union leaders charged the railroad had made it a policy to ignore communications from representatives of the unions involved and said Thomas E. Bickel, a federal mediator, had come to Peoria from Washington twice in an attempt to settle the differences.

The strike is said to be the first on any railroad since the Watson-Parker bill was enacted by congress in 1926. The road covers approximately 250 miles, extending east to the Indiana line and west to Keokuk, Ia., with several north and south branch lines.

ROB WOMAN OF $9,000 IN JEWELS AFTER CABARET
Oak Park police last night revealed that they are seeking three men who early last Tuesday morning followed the automobile of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jelinek from a downtown cabaret to their home at 704 Wesley avenue, in the suburb, and with revolvers robbed Mrs. Jelinek of jewelry valued at $9,000. Mr. Jelinek is president of the Cord Tire company at 2544 South Michigan avenue.

According to the victims they visited several cafes and about 3:30 a. m. Tuesday left for their home. Mr. Jelinek driving. As they drove up in front of their residence an automobile pulled up behind them and two masked men stripped Mrs. Jelinek of her jewels.

Searle came to Rochester yesterday from New York where he had been associated with the main office of the company.

ORDERS WHOOPEE BELT CLUBS TO CUT OUT LIQUOR

Locked Doors Banned, Police Captain Warns.

Acting Captain Charles Essig, recently assigned to the East Chicago avenue police station to clean up the whoopee belt of the near north side, delivered his ultimatum in person yesterday to ten owners of night clubs and cafes: Liquor is going away from the cabinets of his district, he said, and if they are going the holdup men who have been preying on the Gold Coast district.

The captain had invited the owners of all the night clubs and restaurants in his district to meet him at his office at the police station at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Ten of them showed up, nine men and one woman.

"I want to tell you fellows," Capt. Essig said, "that liquor selling must stop. I understand that you fellows are selling liquor and it will have to stop and stop for all time. I mean every word I say and don't look doubtful, for I'll be at your places in person and see that the law is enforced."

"To Make Things Tough." "If you don't quit cheating, I am going to make things so tough for you that you will have to get out of business."

"I don't want any locked doors," he said. "I don't want any of my policemen at a door and begging for admittance. I want them to walk in and if I find the doors locked, I'll kick them in—and I'm not kidding."

"I don't want you fellows to think I am a czar. I'm not. I am asking only that you owners of night clubs and cafes run legitimate places, and if you don't, you are sure to hear from me. I'm tough on all law violators, but a hell of a nice fellow to deal with when legitimate business men call on me for help. Now remember, no cheating, and if you fellows think you can outsmart me and my men, well, go ahead and try it."

Afraid of Holdups. Henry Shapiro of the Club Algiers, 657 St. Clair street, one of the ten, spoke up.

"About this locked door business, Captain," he said. "We don't like to leave our doors open and submit our guests to holdup men."

"Just a minute," Capt. Essig interrupted. "I'll see that the district is cleared of holdup men, and you see that the doors of your places are open. That will be all."

The ten night club owners filed out of the office.

Among those who attended the meeting were Pat Naillia, representing the Turkish Village at 606 North Clark street; Danny Barone of the Club Algiers, 228 East Ontario street; Danny Bianco, Club Alabama, 749 Rush street; and David Abion of the Club Algiers.

Capt. Essig was transferred to the East Chicago avenue district from the Racine avenue station with instructions to wipe out all vice and crime in his territory.

KILLS HIS FATHER, WOUNDS MOTHER WITH SAME SHOT

John Rosinsky Jr., 21 years old, 5435 South Winchester avenue, last night shot and fatally wounded his father, John Sr., 54 years old, and wounded his mother, Anna, 62 years old, with the same bullet. The elder Rosinsky died several hours later at the Southwest General Hospital, where Mrs. Rosinsky is suffering from a bullet wound in her right arm.

Young Rosinsky told the police that the shooting was the result of a quarrel over a letter which his father had received from a relative in Hungary yesterday. When his father started to read it at the dinner table the youth snatched it from him to read it himself. His action angered his father, who snatched the letter back and in the struggle the letter was torn so badly that it could not be read. The elder Rosinsky then grabbed a bread knife and started to attack his son, the youth said.

Mrs. Rosinsky held her husband's arm and the son ran to a bedroom for a pistol. When he returned, he said, his father was threatening his mother and he fired in her defense. When Mrs. Rosinsky saw her son with the gun she attempted to wrest it from him and the bullet passed through her arm, striking her husband in the abdomen. The New City police captured young Rosinsky as he was fleeing from the house. He was held for the inquest.

ALDERMEN SEEK I. C. G. ACTION ON VAN SWERINGENS

Threaten to Force Issue on Terminals.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The council railway terminals committee started yesterday to ascertain whether they can prevail upon the Interstate Commerce commission to prevent the Van Sweringens of Cleveland from spending many millions for new terminals, electrification and stock operations for control of new railroads in the east, as long as they refuse to discuss a new railway terminal in Chicago.

Specifically the committee in adopting an order of Ald. John A. Maseen (4th) instructed its attorney to "ascertain all the facts obtainable within a week relating to the transfer of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad, and to report in writing whether the city of Chicago should petition for a rehearing on this subject."

Seek Reason for Prejudice.
"As Mr. Mitchell D. Follansbee, director of the Erie railroad, has testified," said Ald. Maseen, "the millions upon millions spent in the east for railroad control, new terminals and electrification cannot be spent here, and it behooves us to ascertain what prejudicial action is being taken against Chicago."

At the same session the railway terminal committee invited J. R. Nutt, president and chairman of the directors of the Union Trust company of Cleveland, to come to Chicago and tell what fiscal relationship, if any, there exists between the Union Trust company and the Van Sweringens railroads and holding companies or investment trusts.

The invitation was fathered by Ald. B. A. Cronson (4th), whose resolution said that J. R. Nutt is shown by the 1917 Poor's Manual to have been a director and vice president of the Nickel Plate railroad, which the Van Sweringens purchased in 1916, and that Poor's shows he is still a director.

Linked with Other Roads.
The resolution further says that Mr. Nutt by Moody's 1929 Manual is shown to be a director of the Allegheny corporation controlled by the Van Sweringens group, "which controls the Chesapeake corporation, which in turn controls the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, which in turn has obtained authorization to control the Pere Marquette railroad, both of which railroads the Van Sweringens group is now in actual control."

The 1917 Moody's Manual is cited to show that J. R. Nutt was one of the directors of the Van Sweringens company which leased the entire property to the Shaker company, another Van Sweringens corporation.

As a preliminary to the effort to pull the Van Sweringens purse strings on eastern expenditures, Ald. Maseen's resolution began:

"It was charged in a hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission that the Van Sweringens of Cleveland made a profit of $16,812,000 in the consolidation of the Nickel Plate railroad, to which one of the Van Sweringens, as a witness before the commission, nodded assent."

Erie Deal Authorized.
Now the Van Sweringens desire that their Nickel Plate railroad shall take over control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad. To do that the resolution recites that the Van Sweringens, on Nov. 6 last, obtained an order from the Interstate Commerce commission authorizing the Nickel Plate to issue $20,000,000 in promissory notes, and with the proceeds to purchase certificates of deposit for a con-

AMBITIOUS MECHANIC STEALS PARTS; WANTS HIS OWN AIRPLANE

James Velek, 22 years old, 2199 South 57th avenue, Cicero, son of a milkman, aspired to be an aviator and as a result he was before Judge Francis Borrelli in the felony court yesterday on a charge of larceny. For a year Velek worked as a mechanic for the National Air Transport company and the only progress he made in actual flying was a ride now and then with an experienced pilot.

Velek decided that he would fly alone if he had to build his own plane. Piece by piece he started to steal airplane parts from his employer's hangars at the Municipal airport and to remove them to his father's hayloft. He eventually hoped to have enough parts to make a plane, but he was caught and arrested and all his work was in vain.

"After you built the plane, how were you going to get it out of the hayloft," asked Assistant State Attorney Frank Mast.

"I never thought of that," replied the ambitious youth. "I guess I would have had to tear down the barn."

An application for probation, which was not opposed by the airplane company, was continued for investigation.

troubling stock interest in the Wheeling and Lake Erie. That stock interest has been held by the Allegheny corporation, a Van Sweringens company, which is to receive $18,864,416 for transfer of its control. Continuing the Maseen resolution says:

"There appears to be no benefit to Chicago in the Van Sweringens, through the Allegheny corporation, obtaining $18,864,416 for further stock acquisitions, and it may be detrimental, if not substantially injurious to this city."

Most of the time of the terminal committee meeting yesterday was taken in interrogating Mr. Follansbee, William Wrigley Jr., another Chicago director of the Erie, was invited, but wrote that he is leaving for Arizona.

A. Eckhart, a third pleaded a meeting of bank directors and directors of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Terminal Never Discussed.
Thirty written questions had been prepared by Ald. Eaton, Maseen, Hoellen and Maypole. The outcome of the questions was that a new terminal in Chicago has never been discussed, and consequently Mr. Follansbee was uninformed on the attitude of the road.

He suggested that the directors of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, which owns the Dearborn terminal, be asked regarding their intention. Accordingly the committee voted to extend an invitation to those directors for next Monday afternoon.

SERG. BEGLEY FACES ANOTHER FRAUD CHARGE

Policeman Is Accused of Autoist Shakedowns.

Serg. William Begley, reputed by police associates to be worth $250,000, spent yesterday in a cell telling any one who would listen that he is the victim of a frameup. He declared he is innocent of the charge that he was a member of a state-wide blackmail ring.

Chief Investigator Patrick Roche of the state's attorney's office, however, refused to believe Begley's story. Roche said he has evidence that Begley was not only associated with the blackmail ring but has been shaking down motorists through the use of women confederates.

The women, according to Roche, would solicit rides and would write down the license numbers of motorists. The next day, according to Roche, Begley would visit the driver, demand the return of the woman's "stolen" purse, and obtain a fee to keep the matter out of the press.

Russell Suspends Sergeant.
Roche refused to give the source of his information, but he said that Begley seemed to be the head of this scheme to obtain money. Late yesterday Police Commissioner Russell suspended the sergeant, pending investigation of the charges.

Warrants charging extortion by threats and confidence game were taken out yesterday for Begley and five others, who are accused of using the money making machine scheme to defraud. At the same time announcement came from Kookuk, Ia., that Harry Robinson, the last member of the gang, was under arrest in that city. He will be brought to Chicago.

Howard Ward, Joseph Yerkes and John Dobbins, three of the others named in the warrants, are under arrest in Paris, Ill., and detectives were sent for them. Dobbins, according to Roche, is an old time confidence game man. He was a member of the famous Mayberry gang of years ago, Roche said.

Victim Help to Set Trap.
The arrest of Serg. Begley and the others followed renewed attempts to shake down Jean B. Hasever, 6642 Lake Park avenue, a cabinetmaker, who was first defrauded of $1,300 on the age old money making machine story. Hasever charges that Begley and his confederates then talked him out of $700 by telling him that he was implicated in the scheme and the government was seeking him.

Begley and J. E. Dewey, 4321 Winthrop avenue, were arrested on Tuesday night when they appeared at Hasever's office for another $500 payment. Begley was subdued after a fight by Serg. Michael Casey and Louis Capperelli. He appeared yesterday with his head bandaged as a result of the beating given him by his brother policemen.

Roche yesterday reviewed the recent troubles of members of the police department. He called attention to the six captains now on trial in the slot machine case, the trial of Lieut. Philip Carroll and his squad on the charge of playing Octavius Grandy, and the indictment of Chicago Lawn policemen for brutality.

AGED WOMAN CHIEF OF DEATHS.
St. Louis Mo., Nov. 12.—(AP)—An unidentified woman, about 65, was dragged in by a man from the Mississippi river near East bridge yesterday, and 30 minutes later she died in city hospital without making a statement. She had waded into the river on a crutch.

School Trustees Settle Battle of Lawyers.

Trustees of the board of education yesterday took steps to restore harmony to the board's law department and end the long standing dissension between Attorney James Todd and Frank S. Righelmer, assistant. As a result Todd will probably remain as the board's chief legal adviser for at least 16 more months, but without the prerogative of directing the duties of his assistants.

At the opening of the board meeting President Caldwell read an opinion prepared by William Sexton of the law firm of Tolman, Sexton and Chandler, stating that there is no vacancy in the office of attorney and that Todd's term will not expire until March 31, 1931. This opinion and two others, one from the office of Corporation Counsel Eitzelson, were referred to the committee of the whole.

Hemingway Starts Debate.
Trustee James A. Hemingway then precipitated a lively debate by moving that Righelmer be retained as assistant attorney in charge of condemnation suits and Thomas V. Sullivan, another assistant, be retained as assistant attorney handling all tax matters.

The two duties are the most important legal matters that the law department must consider. The motions provided for terms of two years for each assistant, at salaries of $10,000 a year.

Todd objected to the proposals, declaring he had the exclusive right to specify the duties of his assistants. The discussion that followed for a time threatened to disrupt the harmony of the board. But the Hemingway motions were finally passed, by a vote of 8 to 1.

Board to Ask an Opinion.
The board will request an opinion from an impartial agency on its right to assign the assistant attorneys to specific duties. Todd declared he will abide by the opinion if it upholds the board.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan cast the only dissenting vote. Trustee James Mulenbach passed his vote.

The battle between the two lawyers reached a crisis last July when Todd informed the board that he had fired Righelmer. Righelmer was retained by the trustees, his salary being paid out of another fund.

The unlightened woman who still suffers every month, receives little sympathy when she could so easily end those pains with Midol. This merciful medicine is not a narcotic, you know. Nor does it interfere in the slightest with the normal and natural process itself. But Midol does banish the pain—in five to seven minutes. Because it acts directly on the organs affected. If taken ahead of time, you may avoid a single uncomfortable moment. Try to realize what a truly wonderful discovery this is; it has made at least one form of suffering quite needless. When every drug store has these harmless tablets, isn't it foolish to be a martyr? Midol costs fifty cents, in metal case.

It is to be assumed that any person familiar with the standards by which the quality of foods prepared for the table is judged will, upon sight and taste, unhesitatingly recognize the superiority of Henrici foods.

But the achievements which bring thousands of persons to Henrici's every day in the year are not solely a matter of quality in foods. Intelligent, intensive and unremitting study of current preferences in many things, including variety of foods, sizes of portions and modes of service, has likewise played a major part in Henrici's preeminence ever since that day when Henrici's doors were first opened.

And so it is that when you come for breakfast, luncheon, dinner or late supper, or at any time between the usual meal times, you see large numbers of persons quite evidently enjoying foods which they seem to know are unexcelled in all the world for wholesomeness, deliciousness and satisfaction of the appetite preference of the moment.

Because of the world-acclaimed efficiency of Henrici operation, this sort of service not only costs you not one penny more than any other restaurant which might seek to equal it would have to charge you, but actually less than is charged in most establishments of very ordinary merit.

CHICAGO DECAYS DESPITE GROWTH, MERRIAM SAYS

Puts Blame on Area's Complex Government.

A city growing on the fringes and disintegrating at the core, listlessly carrying on its government with a profusion and complexity of ruling bodies and unable to work its way out of the predicament because of the same self-sufficiency of its neighbors—such was the picture of Chicago painted yesterday by Prof. Charles E. Merriam, head of the political science department of the University of Chicago.

Prof. Merriam spoke before the national conference on improving government at the Stevens hotel. Although he chose to speak on the general subject of regional consolidation he devoted his whole discussion to Chicago's problem, explaining that Chicago, more than any other American city, typifies the limitations that are strangling the growth of 100 other cities.

People Move Out of City.
Grave danger lies ahead, he said. The city's population is migrating out of the corporate limits, settling up what the professor-politician called "satellite or parasite" cities at the expense of Chicago. At the present rate he predicted, there will soon be more Chicagoans living without than within its borders.

"The metropolitan community is disintegrating," said Prof. Merriam. "The foundation is splitting away and we are headed toward the time when we will be hopelessly disunited. The unmaking of Chicago is going on before our eyes. Chicago will soon become a state of mind or a geographical expression."

The speaker cited a few figures to show the heterogeneous character of Chicago's metropolitan government. Within a 50 mile radius of Chicago, he said, are 4,000,000 people bound in an economic unit and merging in every way but disintegrating in politics. He stated that there were roughly 1,700 independent governing bodies: four parts of different states, 16 counties, 160 townships, 53 park districts, 28 sanitary districts, and 1,000 miscellaneous bodies.

Chicago 8 Ring Circus.
Chicago proper, he called an eight ring circus. The only advantage of the separation of these governing bodies, he said, was that it prohibited the setting up of one political boss to control the whole radius of the city.

He suggested four ways out of the tangle.
"Much can be said for a separate state for Chicago," he said. "Statehood for Chicago would make it possible to place responsibility for local management. It would enable us to adopt a policy for urban expansion and give us a modern judicial organization."

Annexation Is Way Out.
"Annexation of adjoining territory is a second way out. Chicago had its greatest expansion during the World's Fair and it continued until about 20 years ago. Automobiles, the rapid transit, and general prosperity took the people into the suburbs. Now they are fighting annexation. They should move in and help share the responsibility of the great industrial community from which they make a living."

"A third solution is a federation of governments or the league system as New York is organized. We would then bring in Evanston and Oak Park for general decorative purposes. They could remain outside in their superior morality and go on as happy communities satisfying their local pride and capacity for government and still all be part of the larger community."

"Fourth, there is the possibility of developing functional areas for special purposes, health, recreation, police, etc."

Downstate Strangles Chicago.
"To accomplish any of these, regional government is necessary. Chicago must have the right to govern itself. Our friends downstate—God bless them, if that is the proper word—do not know that they are strangling Chicago. They will not allow us to act and inactivity is the greatest peril of any community."

"We must have freedom to expand. What we need most of all is less affectionate oversight and more independent responsibility. Other cities are facing the same difficulty—fighting the belief that they cannot be trusted to govern themselves. These cities comprise approximately two-thirds of the United States and if two-thirds of the country cannot be trusted to govern itself, how can America govern itself?"

NEW MICHIGAN PREXY WINS PROPOSAL FOR WOMAN'S DORMITORY

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Several days now having elapsed since contracts were signed for the erection of a giant dormitory housing 452 women, without any signs of an outbreak from rooming house townpeople, it is generally accepted that Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven's tenure as president of the University of Michigan is destined to be much smoother than was that of Dr. Little.

One of the bitter fights waged against Dr. Little here was by the townpeople against his plan for dormitories. The new dormitory, set in the east side of Palmer field, the women's athletic ground, will cost $950,000, and is to be completed by July 31, 1930. It will be six stories high. The ground floor will contain separate living rooms and dining rooms for each of four groups.

Thomas H. Reed of the University of Michigan echoed Prof. Merriam's plea for regional government.
"In Chicago," he said, "there exists conditions which seem to prove civic degeneration of the lowest kind and then Chicago successfully puts over a civil enterprise of such size and beauty as to leave us dumfounded at the breadth and vision and power of achievement."

Lowden Is Speaker.
Former Gov. Lowden, who presided at last night's program, commended the political reformers for bringing scientific research into government. He traced the progress made in recent years through the application of the methods used in the material sciences, and urged his audience to further its efforts in applying science to governmental organization and functioning.

"We must make democracy progressive," he declared, "or face the danger of having real representative government supplanted by autocracy of some other form of government. At ways we must make those changes in government which time demands if democracy is to survive."

President Hutchins of the University of Chicago spoke briefly, explaining that he came not as a speaker but as a symbol, representing the university, to assure the civic groups the continued support and cooperation of his institution.

"Our faculty and our students have been and are at your command to aid in this work," he said.

AMATEURS AND GRAFTERS RULE CITY—DR. MANN

Rabbi Tells Forum Vast Sums Are Stolen.

Chicago has a government of amateurs, in the opinion of Dr. Louis L. Mann, pastor of Sinai temple. Nor did he hesitate to detail that opinion yesterday before the civic affairs forum of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's organizations at the Hotel Sherman, where he declined, as he put it, to "call a spade an instrument utilized for agricultural purposes."

"We have a government of amateurs," he reiterated. "The only issue is between the 'ins' and the 'outs.' As soon as one set of amateurs becomes acquainted with its duties, it is turned out for another set."

Says Rest Is Stolen.
"We are living here in Chicago under a spoils system of government. We get thirty cents on every dollar we pay out for public improvements, and if you want the right word for what happens to the rest of it, I'll give it to you. It is stolen—no less. There is an unholy alliance between crime and politics in this city that last year cost us $138,000,000 in ninety different forms of racketeering."

"No form of government will be better than the people who get behind it. Good people hold themselves aloof because politics is corrupt, and politics is corrupt because good people hold themselves aloof. Religion, I hold, is a way of life. Nothing that is human can be alien to religion. Religion, therefore, cannot be indifferent to politics. And I say the man is not worthy of his pulpit who will not tell his people what is going on, in season and out of season."

Priest and Minister Speak.
Minister, priest, and rabbi participated in the luncheon program of the forum. Dr. Mann discussed religion in politics. The Rev. Robert J. Kelley, S. J., president of Loyola university, talked on religion in the home, and the Rev. Preston Bradley, pastor of the

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomach. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

4 MINUS 1, THEN 3 PLUS 1 CAUSE COP TO FIGURE

Detective Sergeant Thomas Alcock yesterday happened to notice three women enter the Consumers building at 223 South State street, leaving their man companion outside. A few minutes later the sergeant saw the women return and hand a bundle to the man, who started north on State street while the women walked south.

Alcock followed the man. A few minutes later he saw the three women overtake the man in a taxicab and pick him up. The detective climbed into the cab and took all four to the detective bureau. The bundle contained a coat which the women had bought at the Max A. Folk fur shop in the Consumers building.

Vera Stein, 28 years old, one of the women, appeared so bulky around the skirt, however, that the police decided to search her. In her clothing the police matron found a seal skin coat worth $400. The other two women, Anna Cohen, 42 years old, and Ray Hultz, 26, and the man, Joe Stein, 40 years old, were booked with the Stein woman on a charge of shoplifting. The police said the quartet arrived yesterday morning from New York and are well known as shoplifters.

People's church, had as his topic religion in business.

Religion in the home today, Father Kelley maintained, is based on a philosophy of making it easy for the children to get along instead of developing their characters through allowing them to surmount obstacles. "The gospel of ease," he stated, "is the important factor in the ruin of the younger generation of today. They should be taught gospel of self-sacrifice instead."

DR. NORCROSS' SON IS SHOT IN HUNT ACCIDENT

Pinny Norcross, 17 years old, the son of Dr. Edward P. Norcross, wealthy Chicago physician, who resides in Highland Park, was shot and seriously wounded yesterday while hunting with two companions in a field at Gray's lake, west of Waukegan. His companions said at first that they thought he shot himself accidentally, but physicians who treated him said the nature of the wound indicated that he must have been shot by someone else.

Norcross had never been on a hunting trip before. He went out with Oscar Lundgren, 45 years old, 134 South 1st street, Highland Park, who had promised to teach him to shoot. In Waukegan they were joined by Walter Brown, 35 years old, 1508 Washington street, Waukegan. As they were walking across a field, Norcross flushed a bird. As the boy fired he fell and when Brown and Lundgren reached his side, they found he had been struck in the face and body by a charge of shot according to Brown.

INCREASED DUTY FOR WATCHES IS LOST IN SENATE

Deneen, Glenn Downed by Coalition Votes.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Illinois senators today were run over by the coalition steam roller.

Senators Charles E. Deneen and Otis F. Glenn (Rep., Ill.) led an unsuccessful fight for higher duties for the watch industry.

The senate, at the end of a debate of more than two hours, voted, 51 to 34, to restore present duties on watches and took similar action with respect to clocks without a roll call.

The discussion centered around profits of the Elgin National Watch company of Elgin, Ill., the Hamilton Watch company, which has absorbed the Illinois Watch company of Springfield, Ill., and the Waltham company.

Prosperous, They Say.

The verdict of the Democratic-radical majority was that the watch industry, despite assertions by Senators Deneen and Glenn to the contrary, is highly prosperous and does not need additional protection.

The senate coalition also hit the northwest lumber industry during the day. A finance committee amendment restoring shingles to the free list was approved by a vote of 49 to 23.

Committee amendments placing logs of fir, spruce, cedar or western hemlock, now dutiable, on the free list, and restoring cedar lumber to the free list were adopted without roll call.

A week's recess between the special and regular sessions seemed increasingly certain. Senator Wesley L. Jones (Rep., Wash.), acting majority leader, agreed to introduce tomorrow a joint resolution for adjournment of the special session on Saturday, Nov. 22.

Radical Republicans indicated that they would keep their record straight by voting against adjournment, but admitted they probably could not do so.

Regular Republicans are ready to approve adjournment provided the Democrats, who are anxious for a week's recess, will assume sole responsibility for it and make it clear that they are not seeking to delay the tariff bill. The tariff bill, as matters now stand, cannot possibly be passed before the December session.

House Increases Rate.

The amendments restoring present duties on watches and clocks were offered by Senator A. W. Barkley (Dem., Ky.). The house bill increased the present rate of 11.25 applying on seven jeweled watches to 14.49 and the finance committee further advanced it to 14.60. Increases also were provided under a complicated schedule for other watches of the cheaper grades, reductions being made on high priced watches.

Senator Deneen, in advocating the finance committee amendments, asserted that importations of the cheap watches have hit the domestic industry hard with the result that the Elgin company is running at 50 per cent of capacity. Earnings of the company this year, he said, will amount to only about five per cent on capital and surplus, as against 8.5 per cent last year, and higher earnings in previous years.

Figures Are Questioned.

Senators Barkley, Kenneth McKellar (Dem., Tenn.), and Royal S. Copeland (Dem., N. Y.) questioned Senator Deneen's figures. Senator Barkley insisted that the earnings of the Elgin company last year amounted to 14 per cent on $10,000,000 of capital stock and that of the $10,000,000 the sum of $4,000,000 represented stock dividends.

"The company has not lost any money," Senator Deneen conceded. "But if it does not receive some protection against importers who are evading the law, it cannot continue to earn dividends."

Senator Deneen asserted that the Bulova Watch company of Providence, R. I., which assembles imported watch movements, has had earnings of 50 per cent on its capital.

Senator Glenn, in defending the watch industry, clashed with Senator

WOMAN INCOME TAX AID OF MOVIE STARS GETS PRISON TERMS

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Miss Marjorie Berger, 45 year old income tax expert for various motion picture celebrities, today was sentenced by Federal Judge Edward Hennings to two terms of two years and six months each and to pay two fines of $2,500 each, for manipulating the income tax reports of movie stars.

Miss Berger was sentenced to serve her term in federal women's prison at Alderson, West Virginia, but her attorney, William B. Belne, obtained a thirty day stay of execution and declared he would appeal to the highest courts. Miss Berger was at liberty on $5,000 bonds tonight.

In a statement in her behalf, Attorney Belne declared that Miss Berger was not a deliberate wrongdoer in making out the income tax reports of Dorothy Mackall, Eleanor Boardman, Dorothy Sebastian, William Haines, King Vidor, Tom Mix and others, but had been led to all the tax reports with fraudulent statements by the movie notables themselves.

Belne cited portions of the transcript in which he asked Miss MacKall, Miss Boardman and others if they had been promised immunity by Federal Attorney Samuel McNabb in return for shouldering blame upon Miss Berger. Each movie celebrity in turn had declared that Miss Berger had declared that she had manipulated the income tax reports of the movie stars.

Belne also cited portions of the transcript in which he asked Miss MacKall, Miss Boardman and others if they had been promised immunity by Federal Attorney Samuel McNabb in return for shouldering blame upon Miss Berger. Each movie celebrity in turn had declared that Miss Berger had declared that she had manipulated the income tax reports of the movie stars.

After imposing sentence, Judge Hennings today said that Miss Berger's two prison terms would run concurrently. He then asked United States Attorney McNabb if the government expected to prosecute Miss Berger on other income tax report cases, on which she was indicted. One of these involves several of Tom Mix's tax returns. McNabb said Miss Berger would be further prosecuted.

Burton K. Wheeler (Dem., Mont.). The latter inquired what branch of the Republican party Senator Glenn was undertaking to speak for. Senator Glenn retorted by asking what part of the Democratic party Senator Wheeler represented and recalled that he had been a candidate on the La Follette Socialist ticket.

Senator Glenn said that if Senator Wheeler was a friend of labor he would vote for higher duties on watches and clocks.

The fight for duties on shingles, logs and cedar lumber was led by Senator Jones with the aid of his colleague, Senator C. C. Dill (Dem., Wash.). Those voting against the finance committee amendment restoring shingles to the free list included far western Republicans and New England and other eastern Republicans and Democrats.

Democrats than Senators Deneen and Glenn were able to enlist for higher duties on watches. For the finance committee amendments were 25 Republicans and 21 Democrats. Against it were 19 Republicans and 10 Democrats.

"O, there's no argument," said Grundy. "I admit my testimony."

"Well, then," said Senator Caraway, "do you wish on it now?"

My recollection," answered Grundy, "after being on the stand several hours, was that it was the backward states."

"You made an unconditional, positive promise—"

"Yes—"

Grundy, with a little show of heat, "I feel, on reflection, that I made a mistake."

"Well, you made several mistakes on reflection."

"Any witness probably would."

Asks If He's Weighing.

"Yes, I suppose so," said Senator Caraway sarcastically, "but what I want to know is if you are weighing on your promise?"

"I wouldn't put it that way," began Grundy.

"You got afraid to do it, did you?" interrupted Caraway.

"I am not afraid at all," asserted Grundy. "I merely think it would be very unbecoming and very improper for me to do it."

"I thought you would do that," said Senator Caraway, leaning across the table toward Grundy. "I thought you would weigh on it—"

"I don't like that word," protested Grundy.

"And so you are going to turn yellow," concluded Senator Caraway, motioning Grundy out of the witness chair.

A moment later Senator Caraway withdrew the remark.

CHARGE PRISONER ON BOND STOLE $15,000 IN MONTH

Seven robbery cases charged against Lee Phillips caused a statement to be issued yesterday by the Chicago Crime commission, calling attention to bond reductions granted this defendant, and to the fact that one of his sureties was Mrs. Fannie Cowen, 519 S. Independence boulevard, who figured in the release of George Barker, a notorious burglar now free. In a month's time Phillips' robberies netted him $15,000, it was stated.

The crime commission presented evidence to Municipal Judge Daniel P. Trude showing that although Barker had fled Mrs. Cowen was released from the bond, which enabled her to sign Phillips' bond. After she did so, Phillips committed three more robberies, the crime commission stated.

Judge Trude issued warrants against three persons involved in Barker's release, but owing to his elevation to the circuit court, and because he will be assigned to the Criminal court today, he asked the state's attorney's office to proceed by indictment without waiting for him to hear the case originating from his warrants.

The crime commission was requested by the Wicker Park Chamber of Commerce to take action regarding the robberies of the stores of several of its members. Phillips had been caught robbing a jewelry store and was identified as a robber by other storekeepers.

Following his release from jail Phillips immediately resumed operations, the commission statement declared, "and, if the complaints are true, he held up three other persons during the month of September and robbed them of more than $15,000—almost sufficient to pay the surety and the attorneys."

He has been returned to jail since, the report showed, and the commission announced it would ask his immediate trial rather than have him again admitted to bail.

Judge Trude issued warrants against three persons involved in Barker's release, but owing to his elevation to the circuit court, and because he will be assigned to the Criminal court today, he asked the state's attorney's office to proceed by indictment without waiting for him to hear the case originating from his warrants.

The crime commission was requested by the Wicker Park Chamber of Commerce to take action regarding the robberies of the stores of several of its members. Phillips had been caught robbing a jewelry store and was identified as a robber by other storekeepers.

Following his release from jail Phillips immediately resumed operations, the commission statement declared, "and, if the complaints are true, he held up three other persons during the month of September and robbed them of more than $15,000—almost sufficient to pay the surety and the attorneys."

He has been returned to jail since, the report showed, and the commission announced it would ask his immediate trial rather than have him again admitted to bail.

CHARGE PRISONER ON BOND STOLE $15,000 IN MONTH

Seven robbery cases charged against Lee Phillips caused a statement to be issued yesterday by the Chicago Crime commission, calling attention to bond reductions granted this defendant, and to the fact that one of his sureties was Mrs. Fannie Cowen, 519 S. Independence boulevard, who figured in the release of George Barker, a notorious burglar now free. In a month's time Phillips' robberies netted him $15,000, it was stated.

The crime commission presented evidence to Municipal Judge Daniel P. Trude showing that although Barker had fled Mrs. Cowen was released from the bond, which enabled her to sign Phillips' bond. After she did so, Phillips committed three more robberies, the crime commission stated.

Judge Trude issued warrants against three persons involved in Barker's release, but owing to his elevation to the circuit court, and because he will be assigned to the Criminal court today, he asked the state's attorney's office to proceed by indictment without waiting for him to hear the case originating from his warrants.

The crime commission was requested by the Wicker Park Chamber of Commerce to take action regarding the robberies of the stores of several of its members. Phillips had been caught robbing a jewelry store and was identified as a robber by other storekeepers.

The Silver Lining In Wall Street Cloudburst

Many financial experts see behind the storm-cloud in Wall Street such blessings as the release of the huge funds that have been tied up in speculation now freed for use in productive enterprises; the cure of the speculative craze that turned America into a vast Monte Carlo; and the elimination of false values of securities which have been a danger hanging over the investment world for several years past. The essential soundness of business is emphasized everywhere.

Stock speculation in the past had a great deal of influence on business sentiment, but the National Industrial Conference Board argues that this is no longer true. It presents an impressive array of figures involving stock prices and various business factors which enables it to reach the conclusion that "the violent stock fluctuations during the present and past year have had little relation to business activity, the more so as business during that period has shown a hitherto unusual stability and thus far a steadily increasing trend."

In The Literary Digest this week, November 16th, there is a very comprehensive survey of the business situation and the effect upon it of the Wall Street slump, with conservative predictions of what may be in store for the individual investor, business man, and job holder. ## BALLASTED TUGS ONE SOLUTION OF BRIDGE NUISANCE

2 Concerns Weight Boats to Get Under Spans.

The presidents of two large dredge and dock companies agreed yesterday that smaller tugs than those now in use could be successfully operated on the Chicago river and could pass easily under the loop bridges without causing them to open and halt street traffic. Such craft could be built, both said, but they would not be practical, either from the standpoint of safety or commercial service, on Lake Michigan.

John F. Cushing of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Company and P. G. Connell of the Fitzsimons and Connell Dredge and Dock company were the executives who gave these views. Both men pointed to the manner by which their craft, proceeding without tow, avoid calling for open bridges as they move up and down the river. Because of the high lake level the sixteen foot clearance under the bridges has been reduced to fourteen feet and some tugs can thus force the bridgetenders to open the spans even during closed hours.

Ballast Solves the Problem.

To avoid these openings, the Great Lakes and the Fitzsimons & Connell tugs are heavily ballasted when they move into the river and their height is thus depressed so that, even with high waters, they can ease their way under the bridges. It is possible to reduce the height of a tug from one to two feet by this method, Mr. Cushing and Mr. Connell said.

In oil engine tugs the "trimming" or ballast tanks fore and aft are flooded as the boats enter the river while in the steam engine tugs, the chain lockers are loaded with chains. This practice sometimes brings the decks to a level with the water surface, according to the presidents.

Height of Tugs Reviewed.

A further investigation of the height of the tugs which use the river revealed that the three Fitzsimons & Connell tugs are of a height low enough to allow them to pass under the loop bridges. The nine tugs of the Great Lakes company are in the same category. Data on the Fitzsimons & Connell boats follow:

Tug	Build	Height
E. James Peck	1925	13 ft. 6 in.
C. J. Connell	1926	13 ft. 6 in.
La Salle	1926	14 ft.

Both Mr. Cushing and Mr. Connell expressed themselves as willing to cooperate with the city in attempts to improve present conditions "as far as we can without interfering with our legitimate business." They pointed to the heavy ballasting of the tugs, which they said was really harmful to the craft, as an indication that they are endeavoring to aid in some solution of the problem.

SPIKE O'DONNELL HIS OWN LAWYER AT "SLOT" TRIAL

Selection of the Jury Is Started.

Selection of a jury in the conspiracy trial of 21 alleged members of a so-called slot machine ring, including Dr. William H. Reid, former member of Mayor Thompson's cabinet, six police captains, and fourteen others, was begun yesterday before Judge John P. McGoorty in the Criminal court.

It was a slow process and when the session ended only two men had been tentatively accepted for service by both the state and defense. Indications were that a week or ten days will be consumed before the jury box is filled.

Six Captains on Trial.

The police captains facing the charges are Patrick J. Collins, Dennis M. Malloy, Richard J. Gill, Michael Tobin, Hugh McCarthy, and Michael Delaney. The jury may find them guilty of a misdemeanor calling for a sentence of from one day to one year in jail and a fine of from $1 to $2,000, or both, or it may find them guilty of a felony, in which case they are confronted with a sentence of from one to five years in the penitentiary and anything up to a $2,000 fine.

Among the dozen or so racketeers and hoodlums on trial with the police officials is Edward (Spike) O'Donnell, well known gangster. O'Donnell is the only one of the defendants without a lawyer to represent him in court, and when Judge McGoorty asked him yesterday why this state of affairs existed he replied that he neither wanted or needed a lawyer.

Fires His Attorney.

"I had engaged Attorney Frank McDonnell to represent me but we had a jam and I discharged him," said Spike rather airily. But it was not until a recess of court that O'Donnell went into details concerning his lack of counsel.

"What's the idea, Spike?" he was asked.

"What's the idea?" he repeated, looking down from his six feet four or thereabouts. "What's the idea? Why, say, there's enough legal talent in there now without me adding some to it."

"Why should I pay some 'mouth-piece' from $200 a day up to represent me? If these lawyers would come in for a flat rate I wouldn't mind hiring one, but they won't take less than $200 a day—and no one knows how long this case will drag out."

"You know these lawyers are worse than bricklayers. They want to be paid time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays and all like that. O, no, I'm too smart for that."

"And again," said Spike, "I wouldn't mind if I got some sugar but I didn't; it's a bum rap."

"You know, I've had some experience in these matters. This isn't the first courtroom I've been in nor the first time I've represented myself. I remember one time I had a dead bang rap against me. It was alleged—that's the way you guys say it, ain't it? 'It was alleged'—that I had cracked a safe. Well, you boys know I never was a pater man, but, as I say, it was a dead bang."

He Picked a Winner.

"Well, that time Charley Erbsstein (deceased) was my lawyer and he let me pick the jury and I picked one that sprung me in five minutes. So I guess I can go along without a lawyer and be just as well off."

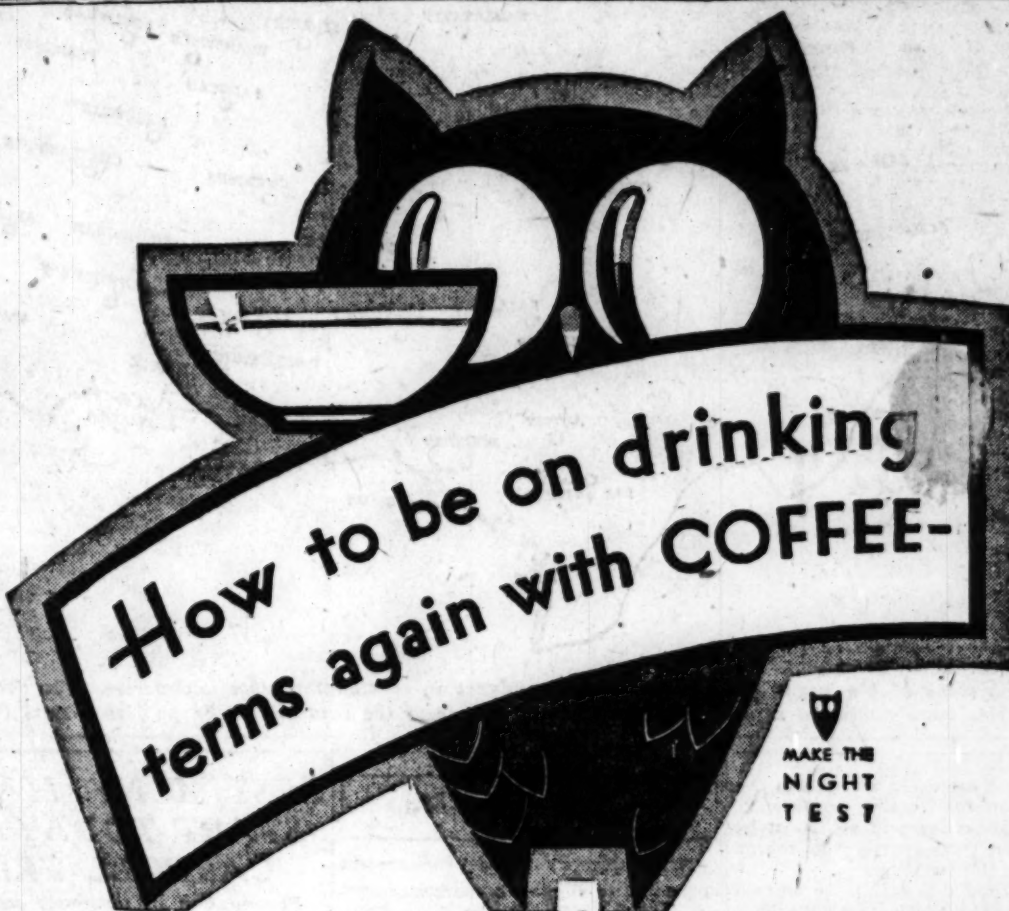

O'Donnell sat among the police captains on trial, and now and again he held whispered converse with one or the other. The captains didn't seem to like that exactly. Not that they don't like Spike—not that they agree that Spike isn't a bad fellow personally. But there in that courtroom he's had company.

Judge McGoorty took a hand in the questioning of the prospective jurors. He impressed each man called with the dignity and gravity of the duty, stripped the preliminaries away and then turned them over to the lawyers.

FLOUR BROKER KILLED BY GAS IN HIS HOME

Herman L. Feigenhauer, 54 years old, a flour broker, was found dead of asphyxiation yesterday when firemen answered an alarm at his home at 4400 North Racine avenue following a gas explosion. Feigenhauer's body was lying on the floor of the kitchen. All of the burners on the gas stove were open.

Capt. John Horn of the Town hall police station, who investigated the broker's death, said he found telegrams in the apartment which indicated that Feigenhauer had been trading heavily in grain in recent weeks. Mrs. Dorothy Beck, 1344 Albion avenue, a daughter, said she knew of no reason why Feigenhauer should commit suicide, and that he never speculated. Mrs. Feigenhauer was not at home, having gone to St. Louis on a visit several days ago.

NELSON JOHNSON,
'CAREER' MAN, IS ENVOY TO CHINAStimson Regrets Loss of Phillips at Ottawa.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Nelson Johnson, assistant secretary of state in charge of far eastern affairs, was named minister to China by President Hoover today. Mr. Johnson will succeed John Van A. MacMurray, the present minister to China, who resigned ten days ago. The diplomatic shift is expected to take place before the first of the year.

Mr. Johnson is a career man with an unusually wide knowledge regarding the whole far eastern situation. Entering the foreign consular service in 1907, Johnson went to China as a student interpreter. From that time until September, 1918, Mr. Johnson served constantly in various sections of China, rising to the rank of consul. In 1921, he served as an expert assistant at the Washington arms conference, later becoming chief of the division of far eastern affairs. In 1927 he became assistant secretary of state.

Phillips Insists on Retiring.
Shortly before the promotion of Mr. Johnson was made known the state department announced the resignation of William Phillips as minister to Canada. Mr. Phillips' resignation was accepted with the deepest regret by President Hoover. In an attempt to persuade the envoy to remain in the diplomatic service, the President offered Mr. Phillips another diplomatic post, but this was declined.

"The department regrets to announce the resignation of Mr. Phillips as minister to Canada," Secretary of State Stimson said. "The President was very reluctant to accept it and asked Mr. Phillips whether he might care to accept another post in the service, since his career as a diplomatic officer of the United States has been long and highly successful. To the President's regret Mr. Phillips felt that the time had come when he wished to bring up his children in the United States and therefore felt himself unable to reconsider."

State Department Worries.
The loss of two high ranking officials—Mr. Phillips and Mr. MacMurray—from the American foreign service abroad within the last ten days has had a somewhat disquieting effect in administration circles. The retirement of men of the caliber of the two ministers from the diplomatic service, combined with the loss from other departments in recent months of high grade men, is considered responsible, in part, for President Hoover's decision to strengthen the state department.

In order to increase the department's effectiveness Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has asked the budget bureau for increased appropriations in 1931.

At present there are more than 100 vacancies in the foreign service abroad because of lack of funds to pay the salaries of substitutes for foreign service officers now in Washington.

Regretted by Canadians.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 13.—Surprise and sincere regrets were expressed in Canadian government circles here today over the Washington announcement that William Phillips, United States minister to Canada, had resigned. Mr. Phillips is in Montreal today attending the funeral of Finance Minister James A. Robb and a statement from him was not obtainable. But in his two year ministry here he and Mrs. Phillips had won affection and esteem.

WOMAN HELD AS

LOSES IRON CALM

Camden, N. J., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Gladys May Parks today showed the first sign that she is breaking down under the grilling to which she is being subjected to force from her complete confession concerning the deaths of little children with which she was connected.

She moaned as she was taken into the morgue at Pleasantville and forced to gaze upon the body of Timothy Rogers, 2, whose body she admits she buried, but whose murder she denies. Then County Prosecutor Baldwin and Chief County Detective Doran questioned the woman across the dead body of the boy. She is also accused of having killed little Dorothy Rogers, sister of Timothy.

Parks has been forced to look upon the remains of any of the children who, it is alleged, were her victims. She was visibly shaken by her experience today and was grim of face as she was driven to Atlantic City, where she is to be held for some days.

BRADFORD, England, Nov. 13.—[AP]—The prince of Wales dipped diffidently into the subject of women's fashions today in addressing a luncheon given at the opening of the new Chamber of Commerce building in this wool industry center.

"It is not for me to express an opinion whether women look better in short or in long dresses," said the prince, "but for the sake of Bradford's trade I hope they will be made long."

TARDIEU DOWNS
MOVE TO BEAT
FRENCH CABINETWins "War Bond" Row
by Only 60 Votes.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, Nov. 13.—The new Tardieu government, which has faced the thankless task of reconciling the chamber of deputies to the Young plan and the evacuation of the Rhineland, today encountered rough going in a comparatively unimportant debate over the budget, only being able to muster a majority of 60 votes.

It was the ghost of the billions of francs, which were lost to French bondholders when the franc was definitely stabilized in 1928 at one-fifth of its pre-war value, that rose to attempt to show the new government's weakness.

Demand Aid to Bondholders.

Louis Marin of the Nationalist right and a number of the creators of the left wing, apparently acting in a concerted attempt to defeat the cabinet, interrupted the discussion on the banking reform bill to demand that something be done to help the luckless holders of government bonds, whose savings were diminished by four-fifths, many of whom are now in misery.

"These people were promised during the war that their holdings were sacred, and Raymond Poincaré, before stabilization of the franc, indicated that he would protect them," M. Marin said.

"When is France going to return to financial honesty?" asked Vincent Auriol, and the deputies found this a great subject to orate on and many tears were shed for the bondholders.

Tardieu Retorts Crisply.
Premier Tardieu interrupted the oratory with a crisp statement that any attempt to indemnify bondholders at this late day would wreck the country's finances.

"When we stabilized, we did so with the full knowledge of what it meant. It was the look backward," M. Tardieu stated.

He then put the question of confidence and only got his 60 votes majority.

Here's one granddaughter who takes advice from eldersSchoolgirl learns simple health

WITH all the talk there is nowadays about the independence of the sub-degeneration, your reporter got a great kick out of hearing a grandmother describe how her granddaughter was following a good old tried and true method of improving her general health.

"My granddaughter, Margaret," says Mrs. Zell of 6231 Catherine Street, Philadelphia, "read about Nujol, was interested in it, so sent for a sample." It seems she has been taking a tablespoon of Nujol once a day since and expects to continue this treatment. Already she has found an improvement in her general health, her system functioning normally where other remedies had failed.

That's one of the best things about Nujol. It is just as harmless for young girls, or babies even, as it is for adults.

For Nujol contains no medicines or drugs. It can't possibly upset you because it works so easily and regularly, in a normal fashion.

Starting right

When it comes to health, we can afford to be guided by what older folks say. For years now, mothers and fathers and grandparents have known the benefits of Nujol. And the new crowd of girls and boys now growing up are finding that health is the most popular asset in the world today.

Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York City. It can be bought anywhere for about the price of a ticket to a good movie. Get a bottle today and try it, won't you? In sealed packages.

ASSESSOR BOARD WARS OVER CUT IN LAND VALUES

Reopens Its Hearing on 63d-Halsted Realty.

At the instigation of George O. Fairweather, member of the joint commission on real estate valuation, the board of assessors yesterday reopened the hearing on land values for the four blocks on Halsted street north of 63d street, which were cut 25 per cent on Saturday. After three hours of bitter dispute the board was unable to decide whether its action reducing the valuation should be considered and adjourned in deadlock.

The board lowered front foot values from $1,000 to $750 on property near corner lots at 63d and Halsted streets, progressively to property at 59th street, where the values were cut from $600 to $450. In making this the assessors refused to consider the recommendations of Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment.

Conroy Fights for Slash.

The district is in the town of Lake, the home of Assessor John E. Conroy, who fought vigorously in the interests of the property owners, in keeping with his policy of opposition to the reassessment. The valuations were set by the assessment staff on the theory that the area rivaled the loop as a business center. This view has been opposed for more than a year by the 63d-Halsted property owners, together with taxpayers in other outlying centers, Lincoln and Belmont avenues, Crawford avenue and Madison street, and Broadway and Wilson avenue.

At the opening of yesterday's hearing, Mr. Fairweather declared that the figures set by Cutmore's staff were conservative. He produced figures to show that the annual income of the properties exceeded a fair return on the assessment figures.

"Your reductions are gratuitous," he told the assessors. "They are gifts to the owners in those blocks. Your valuations cannot differ from the sale price of the land. Your action im-

EMMERSON SPIKES RUMORS OF SPECIAL LAWMAKING SESSION

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson today disposed of gossip concerning the possibility of a special legislative session to consider revenue matters. There has been received from no authoritative source a request for a special session to deal with this subject, and the governor has expressed no opinion as to the feasibility of the proposal.

The governor still entertains the sentiments he expressed during his campaign and in his message to the legislature, in which he called attention to the necessity for a change in the state's antiquated revenue system. The revenue commission recently appointed by him, he trusts will be able to find the basis for a more acceptable one. He is satisfied, however, that any modification of the revenue section in the constitution of 1870, can anything of permanent character be attained.

"During my campaign," said Gov. Emmerson today, "I referred to the necessity of a change in our revenue system, and promised, in the event of my election, to bring it to the attention of the legislature. This I did."

"I was not favorably impressed with the bill for the relief of the Chicago schools, but because the Chicago school people believed it would tie them over, I refrained from vetoing it. I did not feel that we could afford to close the schools even though the legislation designed to keep them in operation contained objectionable features. I still feel the same way with respect to legislative proposals. I am in sympathy with any measure looking to relief."

perils the whole reassessment by bringing anew the gross inequalities of the old system."

Ringer's Motion Ignored.

Assessor Charles Ringer moved to raise the figures again. The motion was ignored. Chairman Charles Krutchoff and Assessor Gene Oliver took no stand in the debate. Assessor Conroy led the battle for the property owners.

"The return to the old figures would mean confiscation of the property of those people," he shouted. "The development in that district is going south. These people, who own property north of 63d street, have had to cut their rents. Listen to their side of the case. Your figures are wrong." Fifty property owners cheered Conroy. When it became apparent that no decision could be reached the hearing was postponed indefinitely.

PROPERTY VALUES IN LAKE COUNTY GAIN $2,677,010

The full valuation of property, real and personal combined, in Lake county for 1929, exclusive of capital stock of corporations and railroad property, as determined by the board of review in Waukegan yesterday, aggregates $105,118,336. The total valuation in 1928 was $102,441,326, making an increase of $2,677,010 for this year.

Values in Waukegan township, the largest township of Lake county, increased both in real estate and personal property. The total valuation for Waukegan is $27,192,176, an increase of $545,665 over 1928. The personal property valuation for Waukegan is $4,373,515 and the real estate $22,818,660.

The valuation for Shields township, which includes part of North Chicago and all of Lake Forest and Lake Bluff, is $19,494,115 this year, compared to $19,055,255 for 1928.

The full valuations placed on property in the other townships of the county follow:

Deseronto	$4,214,566	Libertyville	$5,514,266
Deerfield	1,399,225	Cuba	2,291,445
Arlington	3,326,319	Elmhurst	2,949,759
Lake Villa	1,267,990	Vernon	2,146,389
Avena	2,829,426	W. Deerfield	5,223,405
Warren	2,843,339	Deerfield	18,640,835

There is an increase of $2,973,490 this year in the county real estate valuation and a decrease of $294,450 in the personal property valuation.

Four Thousand Doctors and Dentists Endorse Milk of Magnesia Wafers

FOR generations millions of people have taken milk of magnesia in spite of its unpleasant "earthy taste." But today doctors and dentists everywhere are recommending milk of magnesia wafers.

These pleasant tasting wafers have clearly defined and proved points of superiority over old-style liquid magnesia. Undiluted with water they are more effective, forming an alkaline film that quickly and surely neutralizes excess stomach acid.

Out of six thousand representative doctors and dentists, seventy-three per cent pronounced Milnesia Wafers superior to liquid milk of magnesia. Doctors know that Milnesia Wafers are pure milk of magnesia—dehydrated. Only the surplus water has been removed.

All the old magnesia benefits are there—the same quick relief for acid stomach, indigestion, headache, biliousness and constipation. Being in wafer form they are much easier and nicer to take. The dosage is always uniform. Each wafer is the equivalent of a tablespoonful of liquid magnesia.

Children like their pleasant candy-taste. Women, whose delicate stomachs are so easily upset by liquid medicines, take them without fear. Men, who have depended on soda and unscientific stomach tablets, indigestion pills, and dyspepsia remedies, are quick to see their merit.

Milnesia Wafers are always available, anytime, anywhere, at office, at home, on the street, or while traveling. The handy package fits purse or vest pocket. The next time you need quick, safe, sure stomach relief, ask your druggist for Milnesia Wafers. One trial will convince you.

Correct sour, acid stomach—instantly

When food disagrees, when you have indigestion, or bad breath—just chew one or two Milnesia Wafers. Pleasant to take, convenient to carry. All drug stores at 20c and 60c the package.

GEORGIA KEEPS M. E. PARTY, LED BY DRY LEAGUER

Churchmen Kill Proposal
Aimed at Politics.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—A bitter fight came in the north Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, today when unsuccessful efforts were made to "depoliticize" Methodist pulpits and to secure Bishop James Cannon Jr. for the part in seeking to make the church a partisan in the last national campaign.

The opposition to the resolution was led by the Georgia Anti-Saloon league and the proposal was lost when the members of Dr. C. O. Jones, state superintendent of the league, that the entire matter be tabled, was carried by a large vote.

Agitation for a complete change of front on the part of the Methodists, for a virtual censure of Bishop Cannon for his part in the recent campaign, and for a recognition by the Methodists of the rights of Roman Catholics to vote and to hold offices, as an equality with persons of all other religious creeds, was led by Dr. Herbert G. Smith, a layman, of Washington, Ga.

Dr. Smith's resolution also demanded replies from E. L. Crawford, secretary and treasurer of the board of temperance and social service to these questions:

The total paid out of funds of the board for Crawford's expenses to the last Democratic convention and to the last Republican convention.

The expenses of other persons paid by the board at these conventions.

The amount of Crawford's expenses at the Asheville anti-Smith meeting and at similar meetings held over the south later.

The amount of Crawford's expenses paid out of funds of the board in the campaign in Virginia.

The expenses of Bishop Cannon paid out of the funds of the board, and when did Bishop Cannon repay the money he borrowed to pay expenses at Asheville.

MIRACLE GRAVE CURES DEFENDED AT CREED PARLEY

Unfair to Cry Superstition, Prelate Asserts.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Miraculous cures, with special reference to those reported recently at the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Powers in Holy Cross cemetery, Malden, were defended in discussion at the Calvert round table in the Fogie museum at Harvard today by Mgr. M. J. Splaine. The session was given over to a discussion of preventing misrepresentation of faith.

In this materially minded world, Mgr. Splaine declared, it is easy to forget the spiritual, to disbelieve extraordinary phenomena. One may well stop and consider that, though invisible, God is always present and can make himself felt in various ways. It is not fair to dismiss such manifestations, or belief in them, as superstition.

The cures reported at Malden, where 40,000 pilgrims have visited the miracle grave before noon today, and where thousands have arrived daily for two weeks, have not been taken up officially by the Catholic church, Mgr. Splaine stated; not a thing has been done about it, but after the rush of curious has subsided, the church will "see what is in it."

Miracles Authenticated.

"At some of the great shrines of the world," he declared, "the miracles have been authenticated by men of science and by doctors. To use the word superstition in this connection hurts. One only needs put himself in the place of the poor invalid who makes the pilgrimage seeking relief. It is not a matter for sneers or laughter. Miracles are possible. When man forgets the supernatural and the spiritual, God causes these manifestations that men shall fall on their knees and be a little more charitable."

Denounce Intolerance.

"As the result of the two days' conference, which closed today, the more than 400 Catholics, Protestants and Jews attending the session adopted unanimously a declaration denouncing intolerance. The resolution asserted: "That sincere conviction as to the absolute truth or inadequacy of one's own faith, and the error or inadequacy of all other religions, involves no question of the spiritual sincerity, their inalienable right to the practice of their religion, or as to their eternal reward."

"That such sincere differences are matters of conscience between the individual soul and its creator and, therefore, are entitled to universal respect."

"That discrimination—political, social, or economic—based solely upon religious prejudice and intolerance, violates both the letter and the spirit of the constitution and is fraught with grave peril to the security of the republic."

POLICE TO START CIVIL SERVICE QUIZ ON MONDAY

The police commission, composed of Deputy Commissioner Ira J. McDowell and three captains, will start to work on Monday morning to review the civil service ratings given to candidates who took the recent sergeant's examination. The plan was outlined yesterday at a meeting of the men appointed by Commissioner Russell at the request of State's Attorney Swanson and Assistant State's Attorneys George Lavin and Homer Dodge.

The state's attorney's office charged that the examination papers were not properly rated, and pointed out the inconsistencies between the marks given to various candidates and their answers to the questions. It has been charged that the ratings were made according to the degree of "pull" of the candidate or the amount paid.

The prosecutors said they hope to be able to show such glaring cases of improper ratings that they will be able to call the examiners before the grand jury.

AFRICA RUSHES GUNS AND PLANES TO QUELL BLACKS

Secrecy Veils Sudden Move Against Durban.

BY FRANK BURTON.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Nov. 13.—A sensation was caused in South Africa today by the announcement that 600 armed police had been hurriedly dispatched to Durban and concentrated on the outskirts of the town. The movement was carried out during the last few days, but the police asked the press not to mention the fact.

The chief commissioner of police, Col. L. P. Devilliers, left Pretoria for Durban Monday and is reported to be in command of the police forces. Oswald Pirow, minister of justice, left Pretoria this morning for Durban by airplane.

Unconfirmed reports state that a detachment of the South African air force has also been dispatched to Durban.

Hotbed of Propaganda.
Durban is a hotbed of foreign communist propaganda among the natives and is the storm center of native unrest, but the police are strangely silent on the matter. A document calling for a native uprising has been circulated among the natives, which the police have investigated, but it is impossible to state accurately whether the concentration is a result of this.

J. S. Marwick, member of parliament from Illovo, Natal, said he knew that trouble had been brewing for some time over the question of poll tax payments by the natives. Many natives around Durban, he said, had refused to pay the tax. It is stated that the taxes overdue amount to $182,000. He further said that the police who have been rounding up native tax defaulters have encountered strong opposition. There has also been trouble at Durban recently over a native boycott of municipal beer halls.

Paper Criticizes Secrecy.
The Johannesburg Star today says there is too much secrecy about the whole question, but that it is obvious that any hasty, provocative, or mistaken action, or any serious error in judgment, might have far reaching and unfortunate consequences. It points out that "nothing is known of any unrest which would justify punitive repressive measures, but in any case a simple policy of repression is not enough and those who think that it is living in the past and show little understanding of the future or changes which are inevitably taking place. These changes, while they may appear to be slight, are very real, indeed."

BERLIN ACTS TO FREE FARMERS HELD IN RUSSIA

Thousands Seek Aid at Gates of Moscow.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BERLIN, Nov. 13.—An extraordinary session of leaders of all the German parties, under the chairmanship of Chancellor Hermann Mueller, Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, and Minister of the Interior Karl Severing, will be held tomorrow to discuss measures by which to help the thousands of German farmers now seeking to leave Russia.

During the last few days, according to telegrams received at the German capital, the number of farmers who have been clamoring for help at the gates of Moscow has swollen to 13,000, despite the fact that the soviet government has forbidden the railroads to sell tickets or transport farmers to Moscow.

Send Desperate Letters.
From Perlovskaja, Tarasovka, and Klamna, small villages within 15 miles of Moscow, desperate messages have been reaching German farmers who escaped to Kiel, where they are living at the expense of the Red Cross. Their relatives in the Moscow vicinity are sending begging letters, but also ask their brethren to refrain from "unwise political statements which might harm those who are still in Russia."

One former refugee who reached Berlin from Kiel said: "I left Russia because there is no hope there for myself or my children. A million farmers are still in the Volga region, the Crimea, and other parts of the country. I saw thousands of them on my trip out of Russia. Hundreds have escaped from Siberia into China, believing that friends will rescue them from there."

Lost Everything.
"Three times everything I owned and had built up was seized by the communists. My father left me a small house and a farm. The authorities said this was too big for my wife and myself. The land and house were seized in 1921. I obtained a patch of government land and went to work in a cooperative shop with the communists. I saved my wages there and built a small hut, but it was appropriated again.

"Last July I had worked my way back to one cow, two horses, and a small field of three-quarters of an acre, which I worked and planted winter grain. I was ordered to turn the crop over. I managed to sell the horses and cow before the auctioneer came to seize all the property."

PHONE FRANCHISE DRAFT INCLUDES 28 YEAR CLAUSE

Attorneys Benjamin F. Goldstein and George I. Haight, special counsel for the city in the telephone litigation, yesterday presented to Ald. B. A. Cronson's sub committee seven sections of the new franchise ordinance which is to be granted the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

The franchise differs from the franchise submitted by the telephone company some weeks ago in that the city proposes to grant a 25 year franchise while the telephone company asked for a 23 year franchise which should continue thereafter with permission for either party to terminate the franchise at a year's notice.

The city contends that the franchise asked by the telephone company would, in effect, be perpetual. Ald. Cronson's committee will meet next week to consider the new sections.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS
Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Shuglovs by Miller offer you a choice of two fabrics: dainty moire rubber lightly but warmly lined, and smartly tailored cloth. Two styles: button-over, and concealed Talon Hookless Fastener with distinctive buckle and strap. Both are easily cleaned.

PROTECTIVE footwear that's really flattering? Why not, said Miller designers . . . and created a bad-weather accessory as shapely as the ankle it protects.

The name is Shuglov (pronounced Shoe-glove). Shuglovs are light and flexible as a soft imported glove. They are cut as smartly as an evening slipper. Lines are slender. Color combinations are intriguing.

Yet, the protective purpose has never been forgotten. Every pair of Shuglovs is waterproof. And even the lightest, daintiest pair gives adequate protection from cold, for they are lined with a warm, fine, elastic fabric.

Ask for Shuglovs by name, in the smartest shops in your city. The authentic Miller creation bears the name "Shuglov by Miller" plainly stamped on the sole. Accept no other. The Miller Rubber Co., of N. Y. Akron, Ohio.

Don't Miss the Opportunity on the Stock Market Today!

The United States—by far the most wealthy and most prosperous nation in the world—today offers its citizens an opportunity so extraordinary that even in less than a year those who do not take it will realize to their sorrow that such opportunity may never again be theirs so long as they live!

Fear—made the most of by shrewd “operators for the decline”—has placed on the bargain counter the securities of America's great and marvelously successful enterprises—

—Despite the fact that actually there is little if any foundation for such fear!

During the past few months business has experienced a slight recession——Natural enough, in view of an abnormally active and prosperous summer and a preceding six months' period that for volume and earnings broke all records.

Suppose, now, this minor recession were to be prolonged—for even six months—

—Can anyone imagine also a recession in American courage—in American initiative—in American resourcefulness—in American energy?

Can anyone imagine that the business institutions of America whose names are household words, whose products are sold all over the globe, whose cash resources are far beyond their needs, whose earning power has been demonstrated in far more troublous times than we are ever likely to see again—can anyone imagine that these great institutions will suddenly cease to pay their dividends, cease to put by handsome sums to surplus?

How long, then, do you suppose that the securities of America's great enterprises—the very bulwark of her world-power—will continue to sell at prices which could not be justified even if this nation were on the eve of another Great War?

The fortunes of history have had their start in the purchase of sound securities—at bargain levels. And thousands of men and women now in modest circumstances will within the next few years become wealthy through the outright purchase of sound securities at present prices—

—Purchases, we venture to predict, which many of them will make within the next few days!

TODAY—buy outright the securities of those companies you know to be well-managed, soundly entrenched, of established earning power. And hold for the enhancement in value that is bound to come during the period of unparalleled prosperity upon which this country has already entered.

TODAY—buy all you can comfortably purchase on an outright basis, and disregard all minor fluctuations.

For never again, so long as you live, are you likely to be granted another such opportunity to found a fortune!

THE WATERWAY IN CONGRESS

Gov. Emmerson has taken the position that any method of completing the Illinois waterway, acceptable to the war department and congress, will meet with his approval, provided only that the completion of the waterway will not be delayed. The $20,000,000 voted for the waterway by the people of Illinois is nearly exhausted, and it will take another $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 to carry the work to completion. Gov. Emmerson has suggested a plan of federal aid which he would prefer, but he is not dogmatic about it.

The governor says that if the work is stopped next year for lack of money, the responsibility will rest upon Illinois' representatives in Washington. Illinois enters the fight for its appropriation armed with a just claim for federal support. The Illinois waterway is a national highway of commerce. Unlike almost all other similar undertakings, it has been built thus far almost entirely at the expense of the locality in which it lies. Chicago and Illinois have contributed their millions to it while the federal government was paying all the costs of canalizing the Ohio, appropriating for Boulder dam, buying the Cape Cod canal, and digging the Panama canal, to mention only a few of the projects to which Illinois contributed but from which Illinois has received, and is likely to receive, no proportionate benefit. The Panama canal has worked positive economic injury to the central section of the country and to Illinois in particular, an injury which can be remedied in part only by the appropriation now asked of congress.

The Illinois congressmen have justice on their side. The governor has given them a free hand to negotiate any sort of agreement which will promise an early completion of the work. He is right in saying that if they do not deliver, they cannot escape responsibility for the failure.

FREEDOM OF THE SEAS

It is reported from British sources that Mr. Hoover has pressed upon the British government the desirability of working out some agreement upon the issues involved in what is vaguely called "the freedom of the seas." It is evident from the President's suggestion that food ships should be legally immune from attack or capture in war, as hospital ships are; that he is giving thought to the problem of neutral rights, which we are glad to believe, for we do not see how any responsible American statesmanship can undertake agreements for the limitation and reduction of American sea power or naval defense without consideration of neutral commerce. As we are a nation not given to warfare and likely, both through pacific inclination and national interest, to be neutral in most international conflicts, we have always been concerned with neutral rights and have always suffered in the degree that we were unable to enforce them. The heavy losses imposed by belligerents in the early days of the republic are forgotten by Americans of this generation, but not perhaps the consequences of belligerent policies in the recent war. We ought to realize, therefore, that we cannot afford to make concessions of naval strength without regard to what we must expect when war again befalls.

This is fairly conceded by the more candid comment in Great Britain, to say nothing of other countries which foresee their own predicament as neutrals. But in British comment we find a new factor which raises a very serious question for us. It is suggested that, having relinquished the advantage our great material resources make possible to enforce our view of neutral rights by naval power, we are entitled to a certain recognition of those rights, provided we do not exercise them inconsistently with the responsibilities implied in the Kellogg-Briand treaty. In other words, we are invited to pledge ourselves not to trade with any nation which is held to have violated the treaty removing it as an instrument of policy. "America is entitled," says the Manchester Guardian, "but it is fair to ask her whether independence of the league will lead her to resist actions taken under the authority of the league in defense of world peace."

A concession to this effect would be, in fact, a relinquishment of independence of the league and would pledge us in advance to accept its judgment and negatively, at least, to support its action. It represents an indirect but very practical entrance into the league system, and we doubt if any concessions to our claims of neutral rights would justify it in the eyes of the American people.

There is under way an effort to interpret the Kellogg-Briand treaty as implying a moral pledge to enforce it, but the American people, which has agreed to surrender its right of independent judgment and independent action through entrance into the league of nations, did not reverse that decision by the Kellogg-Briand treaty. The American senate accepted that instrument with the explicit understanding that it was on our part a renunciation of war as an instrument of policy, but implied no pledge to impose that renunciation upon other countries. Conditions we can conceive might induce us to adopt measures against a specific belligerent, but there is nothing in the Kellogg-Briand treaty that implies a duty to pledge any action in advance of those conditions. On the contrary, the key of our policy remains what it has been from the time of Washington, independence to act as circumstances develop.

Pacifists and internationalists call this isolation. It is, of course, nothing of the kind. It is what it purports to be, freedom of judgment and action, and we are confident the American people intend to preserve it. If there cannot be an agreement upon the rights of neutral commerce conformable to the interests of neutrals, we are certainly not going to purchase concessions in that direction by pledging ourselves to accept the decision of a European political organization, however lofty its pretensions, as to our interest or duty in war or peace. Whatever our theorists and sentimentalists may think of the league as a tribunal and executive of international justice, the main opinion of the people of the United States views it as an instrument of international control which it is in our vital interest to remain free. We are not confident of the disinterestedness of its judgment, and until European nations and governments demonstrate a much more pacific and unselfish disposition than they have revealed to us we shall wisely retain our freedom to act as our conscience and our interests determine in any situation which seems to us to involve either.

COTTON AND CANYONS

A matter of extraordinary but inexplicable importance to a section of the United States senate has been Joseph Grundy's specification of backward states. The Pennsylvania lobbyist had said that a number of states contributed so little to the products and wealth of the country and so little to its government income and upkeep that a realization of this might keep their congressional representatives from insisting upon control of legislation affecting production. When he was ordered to write out a senatorial blacklist of undesirable he was reluctant to do it and Mr. Caraway of Arkansas, who knows he is on the list, became peremptory.

The Arkansas senator has been as familiar with the list of these states and their representatives as Mr. Grundy or any other observer of Washington behavior could be and he does not have to jail any one to get the information. The senate, as Mr. Caraway knows, is now controlled by a coalition of present day scenery and former day secession. The cotton and the canyons have combined to form a party with a right wing of fundamentalism joining a left of radicalism at a center of prohibition. The right wing has a proletariat which, if white, it fires out of church for joining labor unions, and if black it keeps from citizenship. The left wing originates in the mountain gorges and the cactus. They have managed to join in a coalition and run a government.

A PENALTY TAX ON PROFITS

Senator Norris has proposed an amendment to the tariff bill which would penalize an importer making more than 25 per cent profit on dutiable articles. In figuring profit an allowance would be made for transportation costs and insurance. Of the surplus profit above 25 per cent the government would take 49 per cent. The recovery clause of the transportation act brings the government into the profits of railroads when they get above 6 per cent. In these cases corporations charged with public service are concerned. Mr. Norris proposes an extension into private enterprise.

The tariff act has been used as a moral instrument to prevent the importation of books which a customs inspector might decide were not proper reading for an adult and possibly cultured citizen. That was enough to indicate that a tariff bill can be used for any purposes which prevail in any senator's mind, whether to promote fundamentalism, revise the football rules, stop the bringing in of embassy rum, or inject a bit of socialism into the republican form of government.

When the United States inspectors had made a success in the business of German sausages, Holland herring, Swiss cheese, French goods, English and Spanish cars, Italian oil, and Russian fish eggs they would be prepared for a further application of the principle of the government in business and American products could be subjected to a profit split. The treasury department might then, for instance, see that a bootlegger got five and ten for making any sales at all, make him pay an income tax on the sales he had succeeded in making, and also make him divide virtually fifty-fifty on his excess profits. After that Uncle Sam will need only the right to share with a citizen's wife the privilege of going through his pockets when he is asleep.

Editorial of the Day

QUALIFIED CITIZENSHIP.

(Detroit Free Press.)

The Italian embassy in Washington announces that American born sons of Italian parents and naturalized citizens of Italian birth may visit Italy in time of peace without fear of compulsory military service. Their status on Italian soil in time of war is another matter, which the embassy does not attempt to elucidate. The assumption is inescapable, therefore, that the doc's order that "an Italian citizen must remain an Italian citizen even unto the seventh generation" still stands; and that the descendants of Italian citizens, wherever they may be born and no matter how many generations they are removed from Italian soil and sentiment, are regarded by the present government as Italian citizens still and under obligation to go to the defense of their ancestral motherland.

The effect of this doctrine is to make natural born American citizens of Italian extraction considerably less American than citizens descended from, say, Great Britain, which sets up no such theory of the nationality of citizenship, as well as to impair the protection which the United States can extend to naturalized Italians when they return to the country of their origin. The Italian position, which is shared by France and certain other continental European countries, amounts to the contention that there is no such thing as American citizenship as a political status distinct from European allegiance. American citizens, according to this view, are merely citizens of Italy or of whatever other old world country from which they or their ancestors have come, with a few additional privileges which in no wise diminish the obligations of their original allegiance. The survival of this idea in Europe shows how strong the conception of America as a colony of the old world still is in countries that are loath to lose their populations to the new world.

WEIGHT AND ITS EFFECT

BEING overweight has many disadvantages, although these vary according to age, sex, and station in life. When children are fat or considerably overweight for height, age, body build, and nationality they are generally suffering from some abnormality of a ductless gland. The obesity may be the only sign of such abnormality, but oftentimes it is enough. Fat men and obesity in young men and women lessens the danger of tuberculosis, but, on the other hand, the disturbance of the ductless gland function and the discomfort due to being fat are at least offset.

Obesity in people beyond thirty years of age has many disadvantages and there are almost no offsets. The fat man starts his account of disabilities with the item of discomfort. With many this item looms so large that it alone makes out a satisfactory case against obesity.

The discomfort takes the form of painful feet, leg cramps due to fatigue, lack of wind and endurance, various skin disorders, and the discomforts peculiar to being heavy. Obesity, however, greatly increases the likelihood of diabetes and the obese diabetic is in greater danger of coma and gangrene.

If anything were needed to complete the case against obesity, the obese man or woman has an increased liability to high blood pressure. He has more than his share of tendency to heart disease, myocardial degeneration, and Bright's disease. A large proportion of people beyond forty years of age have either gallstones or infected gall bladder, or both. The obese have more than their share of gall bladder disease, with the sequent symptoms commonly called dyspepsia, acidity, and flatulence.

Obese persons do not stand anesthesia and an anesthetic is more general, shall be allowed to pass FREE and UNMOLDED.

THERE'S A DEVIL...

There's a devil in your eyes,
It leers at me tonight,
As you lounge there dreaming
In the gaudy light.

One silk-clad pajama leg,
Thrown across the chair,
Hints of hidden splendor
In your copper hair.

Gleam of bare foot swinging free,
Pendulum of love,
Keeping time to passions
Of the gods above.

All the vice of ancient Rome,
All the spell of Greece
Flaunts before my vision
Like a golden fleece.

There's a devil in your eyes,
Lost across the years,
Sleeping through the eons...
But tonight it leers!

ARIZONA has ordered out its state police to keep eastern scientists from carrying away dinosaur tracks discovered in the state. Which reminds us of the man arrested for stealing a load of telephone pole holes in South Chicago. And once a man was charged with stealing a ton of bungees. Anyhow, the scientist that would try to steal dinosaur tracks from Arizona would steal candy from a baby. Shame! Shame!

And, indeed, There is Nothing New Under the Sun.

All the Washington correspondents are cheering and saying: "Mr. Hoover has offered to the world one new rule of war; that food ships be given the same immunity from attack now given hospital ships." New? How do they get that way? Why, old Tom Jefferson wrote that rule into his commercial treaty with Prussia in 1795. "If war should arise between the two contracting parties... all merchants and trading vessels employed in exchanging the products of different places, and thereby rendering the necessities, the conveniences, and comforts of human life more easy to be obtained, and more general, shall be allowed to pass FREE and UNMOLDED."

The Charleston had been patrolling the northern coast of Luzon. The gunboat Helena has been sent to bring away the crew.

MUST BE A PRIVATE COACH

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 14, 1864.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—There is no military news of importance. The colored people of Nashville had an immense torchlight procession in honor of Lincoln's and Johnson's election. It was nearly a mile long. The Vice President-elect addressed the throng in front of the capitol, counseling his hearers to industry, forbearance, moderation and virtue.

NEW YORK.—The Richmond Examiner says that a number of Yankee prisoners required to meet the demands of exchange of 10,000 are being taken from Andersonville and Dalton, Ga., and forwarded to Savannah, from which point they will be exchanged.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's Washington special says Gen. Banks was in consultation with President Lincoln for several hours. It is reported in administration circles that there is strong probability of his being appointed secretary of war. It is understood that Secretary Stanton is very ill with inflammation of the bowels. He has not been able to be at the war department for the last week.

CHICAGO.—William Cochran and Nellie McLaughlin's daughter and William McLaughlin of Grand Haven, Mich., were married in Milwaukee on Nov. 9 by the Rev. Martin Kundig. Charles J. Bishop and Miss Ingeborg Williamson, both of Chicago, were married on Nov. 10 by the Rev. N. D. Williamson.

CHICAGO.—Henry R. Tucker, 19, a student at Chicago university and son of Col. J. H. Tucker, was killed accidentally when a revolver he was handling carelessly in his room at the university building was discharged.

MANILA.—The United States cruiser Charleston ran aground near Viligan on a hidden reef and may be a total loss. ## VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

HORSES IN THE LOOP.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Ald. Bowler, who charges that horse drawn vehicles used in cartage, drayage, and heavy hauling in the downtown district be taxed to expedite their elimination, ought to head his ordinance, "A Bill to Increase the Cost of Living in Chicago," for that is precisely what his proposal would accomplish.

Every cartage operator and every business man who has hauling to do is well aware of the fact that horse drawn equipment is much the cheapest in the short haul, frequent stop work incident to moving goods and commodities from railway stations to stores, warehouses, and docks, or vice versa.

Firms that have already motorized their equipment will support Bowler's proposal, for the moment horse drawn equipment is eliminated as a competitive factor they can advance their rates and still do so, and the consumer, as usual, will have to foot the bill.

JOHN DEVLIN.

A VACANCY THAT SHOULD BE PERMANENT.

Amherst, Wis., Nov. 6.—The Tribune editorial "A Vacancy That Should Be Permanent" is at least consistent in its expression of the attitude of our former remarks on the Anti-Saloon league.

I wonder if the writer really thought that the evangelical churches of Indiana, with their thousands of pastors, would pay any serious attention to his suggestion or laugh at his jejune suggestion. I imagine if he expressed such remarks at a Wisconsin assembly if he would not put himself in the role of Sancho Panza and be swept off his feet with the laughter of the audience.

The writer knows what he is asking the churches of Indiana to do? Would he ask the Republican party convention to eliminate its plank declaring it the policy of the party to maintain a high tariff? The editor did not intend to ask the churches to vacate their pulpits in the interest of the liquor traffic, but that is what his editorial amounts to if the churches mean anything by their support of the Anti-Saloon league under the administration of the martyred Blumaker.

W. J. CONN.

EXPLAINING BOND ISSUE VOTE.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—I note "Jack's" remarks in which he suggests that President Wilson's call for old American pronouncement and names I would advise her to seek them at any Indian reservation where real Americans name that are not so easily pronounced can be found.

Being a young Polak myself, I know that the older members of our families have very little intercourse with people of other nationalities and the great majority choose to stay, work and trade within their own neighborhoods and with their own countrymen.

As for the younger generations, after a few years of schooling at grade schools they speak English as well as any other child in any school and at home very few of the younger children answer in Polish, although spoken to in that tongue.

EDWARD DZIMALEK.

PETITION FOR ANNEXATION.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Did I ever occur to William Hall Osgood, who suggested that England be admitted to our Union as a state, that his proposition would be better reversed? Why not let England annex the United States? England has proved to the world that it is able to rule, while the United States cannot take care of her own household. Of course, our gangsters, criminals, bootleggers, and dry gangs would have to find some other free country, because they soon would find out that a different wind is blowing. There would be no more sons of the wild west, as in the senate.

BANK OF WORLD DELEGATES SIGN CHARTER; QUIT

Text Remains Secret as Sessions End.

BADEN BADEN, Germany, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The statutes, charter and trust agreements for the bank for international settlements, which has been hailed as removing the last of the post-war problems from the realm of politics, was solemnly signed at 4:25 o'clock this evening by the delegates to the conference, which framed them.

The signing was shrouded in the same veil of secrecy which has characterized the long and sometimes bitter meetings of the last six weeks. Newspaper men were not admitted, nor were the faithful stenographers, who had borne the brunt of the long negotiations.

Britain First to Sign

The first to sign was Sir Charles Addis of Great Britain, the senior by years, who also signed for his absent countryman, W. T. Layton. Another absentee was the French delegate, Pierre Quenay, who, however, arrived from Paris late tonight and signed then.

Belgian signatures were also missing, but General Secretary Walter Lichtenstein of Chicago hopes to obtain these in Brussels. It is expected that the Belgian delegates will make a reservation regarding the selection of Basel as the site of the bank, which had caused them to withdraw from the conference a few days ago.

Contrary to expectations, no covering letter was devised to point out details or suggest reasons for certain stipulations in the provisions. The delegates feared they might meet with fresh difficulties and so instructed Chairman Jackson E. Reynolds of New York to send only a brief letter of transmittal to the central bankers of the interested nations.

Hastily Adjourns Meeting

After the signature, the question of giving publicity to the work of the conference was raised, but when the chairman saw that no unanimous decision could be reached he adjourned the meeting, subject to his call in connection with the second Hague conference on reparations and later for actual establishment of the bank. He remarked that the matter of informing the public was no concern of the conference, but was for the central bankers to decide.

No one apparently, except Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the chief German delegate, demurred at this, but all agreed that even the central bankers must not give publicity to the charter, as this quite possibly must be changed to conform with Swiss laws, nor to the trust agreement, in which there are a large number of blanks as to the time of payment of reparations and their transfer to creditors.

All Sign Trust Pact

The press was assured that every one present signed the trust agreement. Even the French sanctioned it without change, but no one would say what it contained. As a seal in signing the document, the delegates used the personal seal of Secretary Lichtenstein, bearing his initials "W. L."

M. A. Traylor of Chicago, American delegate, stated that he could not release the text, since the conference had not authorized him to do so.

DOUBT TRAYLOR REPORT.

Officials of the First National bank yesterday declared they had received no information indicating that Melvin A. Traylor, president of the bank, is to accept the presidency of the bank for international settlements.

Frank O. Wetmore, chairman of the board of directors of the First National bank, said he had heard nothing from Mr. Traylor regarding the report. He added that he doubted whether Mr. Traylor had been offered such a position.

U. S. SAVES ITS LAST DINOSAUR PRINT FROM SPADES OF SCIENTISTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—(AP)—The last remaining footprint in a trail of giant dinosaurs left in the sands of Arizona as they lumbered, thousands of years ago, toward a pumpkin patch now petrified, is to be preserved there for all time through the action today of Secretary Wilbur, preventing its removal by a party of scientists.

In response to a protest by Gov. Phillips of Arizona, Mr. Wilbur telegraphed the superintendent of the Navajo Indian reservation today to stop the party which includes Dr. J. Elden Mason of the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Barnum Brown of the New York Museum of Natural History.

James C. Nesbaum, interior department archeologist, said that the trail party were headed for once stretched clear across the plain, with many perfect dinosaur tracks. Last summer he found all except one of the footprints had been scooped out of the rock.

Truck Driver Slain

on Long Distance Haul
Painesville, O., Nov. 13.—(AP)—T. Knill of Cleveland, a driver for the Scott Truck company, was shot and killed as four men in a sedan overhauled his convoy, en route from Erie, Pa., to Cleveland, late tonight. The Scott company, which conducts a freight business between Buffalo, N. Y., and Cleveland, has had considerable labor trouble recently.

Mary Nolan of Films

Gains After Operation
Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Imogene Wilson, who in Hollywood is much better known by her sympathetic name of Mary Nolan, went to Good Samaritan hospital for an operation today. The operation was performed by Dr. Harold Van Metre. She is reported as "resting well."

ARGENTINE GRAIN SHIPMENTS GLUT PORTS OF BRITAIN

Steamers Unable to Land Millions of Bushels.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Nov. 13.—Unprecedented wheat imports from Argentina are glutting the English ports. Many vessels are unable to land their cargoes. At Liverpool, which is the pivot port of English trade, at least last year, 1,252,515 hundredweight; 1929, 1,339,393, 475 hundredweight.

Commenting on the present situation, the head of a leading London firm of wheat importers said that, owing to the heavy crop last year, Argentine shipments continued right through the cereal year, and it is estimated that they can continue shipping wheat until the new crop is ready.

American Wheat Held Up.
"In effect," he said, "Great Britain is bound up largely with the Canadian wheat pool and the American federal farm board. Their policy towards the European requirements is to hold wheat above the world parity, believing that the time will come in the near future when other extraneous supplies will dry up and Europe will be bound to go to North America. This was expected to happen about the beginning of November."

Five Arabs in Holy Land Slay Jewess, Wound Man
JERUSALEM, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Five Arabs, armed with revolvers and knives, last night attacked a Jew and Jewess returning from Hebron to Jerusalem. The woman was killed by shots and knife wounds while the man was gravely wounded.

EXPERTS VISION MENACE TO LOOP IN CUNEO TOWER

Might Cause Building Slump, Realtor Says.

John P. Hooker, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board and director of the National Real Estate board, and Edward Renwick, senior partner of Holabird & Root, architects, yesterday attacked the proposed John F. Cuneo tower at Michigan avenue and Randolph street as a menace to the development of other loop properties. Both witnesses assailed the amendment under which Cuneo won the right to build to a height of 440 feet without a setback in the trial of certiorari proceedings brought before Chief Justice Thomas Taylor of the circuit court by three affected property owners.

Mr. Hooker declared that when the provisions of the amendment are fully realized, it may be followed by a depression of building in the loop. He said that property owners will fear to develop their property if it is not so situated as to lend itself to a development similar to that of the Cuneo project. He also predicted that those who lend money to finance building will not do so as readily as they have under the old law limiting heights to 264 feet without a setback.

Mr. Hooker said the amendment allows Cuneo an advantage of 28 cents per square foot in competing with others renting space. This advantage would make it more difficult for the others to dispose of their space and might lead to a reduction of the value of surrounding property, he said.

Mr. Renwick said the proposed tower would reduce light and air to surrounding properties and increase fire and panic hazards.

"The proposed tower would give off an excessive amount of fine ash from its tall chimney and make the loop grimmer than ever," he said. He added that the tower would create currents to pull the exhaust gases of automobiles to a higher level about the neighborhood than a tower constructed under the old ordinance.

J. T. Redmond, president of the Building Managers' association, supported calculations on the rental cost of the tower made by other witnesses.

Attorneys for the property owners opposing the Cuneo project, Joseph B. Fleming, Clay Judson and Lester Falk, announced that they will close their case today. Attorney David Levinson, representing Mr. Cuneo, will open his case tomorrow.

Why not be REALLY comfortable?

You will get a new idea of what sleep can really be with a Nachman Feather-Spring mattress—the finest spring mattress in the world

THE average person spends 8 hours out of the 24 in bed. And the reason we go to bed is to rest our bodies and brains . . . to accumulate energy for the day that follows. Sleep is the only complete form of rest! There is no substitute for it. Deprive yourself of a single hour of sleep, and you have materially reduced your health and efficiency!

Scientists have determined that the average person loses the benefits of two hours of sleep each night through wakefulness and restlessness. The principal reason for this loss is lack of comfort! The mattress upon which you sleep is a vital factor in your life.

The Nachman Feather-Spring mattress is recognized as the most comfortable spring mattress on the market today. Its spring construction, embodying the patented conical feature, gives a resiliency and ease unapproached by any other. Each spring is a separate unit . . . does not even touch the spring next to it. The Nachman Feather-Spring mattress has these advantageous features exclusively. $39.50 everywhere.

The word "Nachman" is recognized as a mark of protection wherever it appears on spring-filled products. ## HUTCHINS SAYS STAGG AS COACH LEADS ALL OF 'EM

New $600,000 Field House Planned

Plans for a $600,000 fieldhouse for basketball, track, and other sports were outlined last night by President Hutchins of the University of Chicago at a dinner held in honor of Coach Stagg and the Maroons at the Stevens hotel.

Dr. Hutchins said the board of trustees had approved the measure at its last meeting and construction would begin in the near future. It is understood that the building will be erected on University avenue between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth streets.

The president went on to voice his views on the Maroon football situation. "We have the greatest coach the country has ever seen," he said. "We have had our share of victories and will have them again. But football is not the most important aspect of education. Victories are still less important. The thing that counts is to have undergraduates and graduates of whom the university will be proud and who will be proud of the university."

Stagg was introduced as the All-American coach of all time.

"There were mistakes made last Saturday in the Wisconsin game," Stagg said, "but I haven't spoken to the men about them. I won't need to. They were taught right; they now realize their mistake and will correct them."

Ex-Maroon Star Talks.

"I would like to see the team go to Champaign Saturday like some teams have in the past. I have a lot of respect for our men. I want to see them so earnest at Illinois, so fired with enthusiasm, that they will come through in a fine way and perform with a victory."

Babe Meigs, a Maroon star of former years, pointed out that the experienced Illinois team would regard Chicago lightly.

"You should resent that," he said, "and you will—just as you did at Princeton when Coach Roper started his scrub team. Get wrought up over being taken lightly and you'll win."

Lawrence Whitting pointed out that a winning football team is the best possible publicity for a school, to say nothing as a source of revenue from attendance.

Stagg Introduces Players.

Coach Stagg introduced each player individually after which Toastmaster Madden announced the meeting temporarily adjourned, "to be successfully terminated Saturday afternoon at Champaign."

STAGG ISN'T BLUE OR GAY

BY FRENCH LANE.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, the noted man of the Midwest, wasn't worrying about the Illinois game as he sent the Maroons through a rainy practice session yesterday. Nor was he particularly optimistic for a Chicago victory at Champaign Saturday.

"But if the Maroons make no mistakes and improve on the game they played against Princeton, they have a chance to win," he said.

So much for the dad's day battle in Memorial stadium down state day after tomorrow.

For Stagg, who for more than a third of a century has been teaching football to the young men of the Midwest, creating plays that are the foundation of the gridiron sport and holding his own often against heavy odds, was in a mood to talk football in general terms rather than discuss the impending clash with the ancient rivals from Illinois.

Maroon Attendance Off.

"Only this morning I was asked if the young men of college football are today having the stamina of the boys of 20 and 30 years ago," he said.

"I think they have. In fact, I can't see any difference at all. Mentally they are, perhaps, more alert, even though they still make mistakes which appear much more important in the heat of an important game than they do a couple of days later."

"To persons not acquainted with the University of Chicago football the season might be termed unsuccessful. We haven't been able to win all our games. Our attendance is off from last season. It takes a consistent winner to pack the big stadiums. But to most of us who are a part of Chicago football the season has been very satisfactory. The people who attend our games are people who are interested in our team."

"When we lose I do not get a mail pouch full of berating letters. Even last year, when we couldn't seem able to beat anybody, I received only one such letter. Only one has arrived this fall. I sometimes wonder if the followers of other teams in the conference show the same consideration to the coaches."

Football in South Grows.

In Mr. Stagg's opinion football in the middle west, far west, and the east has reached its peak of popularity. "In the south it is growing so

HOW IRISH LUCK BROUGHT BRILL TO NOTRE DAME

To Say Nothing of His Mate, Moon Mullins.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 13.—When you talk about the luck of the Irish, don't forget to mention Notre Dame.

Perhaps the best break football down here has received in several years was when Martin Brill decided to withdraw from the University of Pennsylvania and enroll at Notre Dame.

Brill is the regular right half back on the team. He is a non-Catholic.

He attended the University of Pennsylvania two years, winning a place on the varsity football squad as a sophomore. His fine work at Notre Dame revives the story of a reported interview his father had with Lou Young, coach of the Quakers.

"Why aren't you using my boy regularly?" the elder Brill inquired. "He just doesn't seem to fit into our offensive scheme," Young replied. "He is a good athlete and may develop along the lines we desire, but I can't see how we can use him regularly now."

"O, he isn't good enough for the Penn eleven," Mr. Brill is said to have responded.

"Well, I'll tell you what I shall do. I am going to send him to Notre Dame where he will be one of the best backs in one of the best back fields the school has ever had."

Mr. Brill has seen his statement vindicated.

Marty is quiet, and success on the gridiron hasn't gone to his head. His quarters in St. Edward's hall have none of the markings one might expect. It's a simple room and his manner of living is simpler. A radio is the only thing he claims that you can't find in neighborhood rooms.

Perhaps that's why Tim Monahan, varsity center, and Tom Murphy, reserve end, usually can be found in Brill's quarters.

Gets Along with Profs.

Brill is 21 years old, weighs 181 pounds, and is enrolled in the school of physical education. He apparently keeps up in his studies. The Rev. Charles O'Donnell, president of the university, said today he never had received any complaint of trouble between Marty and his professors.

Playing next to Brill Saturday at full back will be Lawrence Mullins, who comes from the other side of the continent. Pasadena, Cal., is his home.

Mullins' number is 21. You undoubtedly will read of him in the Sunday papers. He is the best ground gainer on the squad, averaging more than seven yards every time he has hit the line.

Mullins grew up almost in the shadow of the University of Southern California. He'll have to move out of the neighborhood if Notre Dame loses Saturday.

They call him "Moon" in Sorin hall, where he has a corner room in the basement. He is a happy go lucky devil who can lead whose main recreation is shooting pool. He strolls around the campus in corduroy trousers, a tattered hat and a varsity sweater.

He rooms with Denny Shay, fourth string full back. Their room is almost completely occupied with a ### PLAYER OF GREATEST VALUE.

THE TRIBUNE each season awards a sterling silver football, actual size, to the Big Ten player adjudged by a committee to have been of greatest all-around value to his eleven.

Iowa has several players who have been of great value this fall. Iowa is under suspension from the Big Ten, although it was permitted to play out its 1929 schedule for which contracts long had been made. Technically, Iowa players might not be considered eligible candidates for this handsome trophy.

In a competition of this nature, where the honor of selection is so great and where the trophy is so highly prized, THE TRIBUNE cannot be governed by technicalities. Iowa players will be eligible for this trophy just the same as players of other Big Ten teams are eligible. They are playing football against conference players and as such are entitled to whatever recognition they earn.

Outsiders may not dictate the decision for the conference body on Iowa's plea for reinstatement, without which a conference schedule for next fall cannot be drawn. The Hawkeyes possibly may be pariahs next fall. This fall they are a game, fighting football aggregation.

ZORILLA, TAYLOR END WORKOUTS; FIGHT TOMORROW

Sullivan and Dundee Also Complete Drills.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Red hot sports in town for the Norte Dame-Southern California football game are expected to do much toward enabling Jack Dempsey to spread some nice black ink on the profit side of his ledger for the Bud Taylor-Santiago Zorilla fight at the Coliseum tomorrow night.

It is being pointed out to Southern Cal partisans that Dempsey is a home town boy, having acted in the movies and also having run a high class hotel in Los Angeles. The sales talk to the Norte Dame fans is that it is almost a proven fact that the Norte Dame team frequently stops off at South Bend, Ind., and that Bud Taylor repeatedly shows up at Terre Haute, Ind., the city of his birth.

In addition to the natural lure there also exists the circumstance that Promoter Jack, in his third effort to derive profit through promotion of a fight in Chicago, has arranged an attractive card to go with his stellar number between Taylor and Zorilla.

Zorilla Rugged Indian.

There are those who consider the underdog go the headlines. My Sullivan of St. Paul and Vince Dundee of Baltimore, are of such standing in this community that they may be given the honor spot on the program, according to Mr. Dempsey.

Taylor and Zorilla completed their training yesterday by boxing with sparring partners. After the workout each was under weight and pronounced to be in excellent physical shape.

The Terre Haute blond and his adversary, who is one of the most rugged of the San Blas Indians, according to experts on Indian matters, first soaked each other for pay in Los Angeles in April of last year and did so well at it that three months later they moved to San Francisco and went at it again. Bud won the first fight and Zorilla the second.

Seeks Opponent for Florida.

The elimination tournament idea, which late Tex Rickard found so alluring, seems to be gaining a foothold hereabouts. Promoter Dempsey has admitted that the fight tonight is the first step in a program to discover a new 126 pound champion. Jack also announces the Sullivan-Dundee encounter will lead to great things, eventually to elect the young man who is to depose Jackie Fields as the world's 147 pound champion.

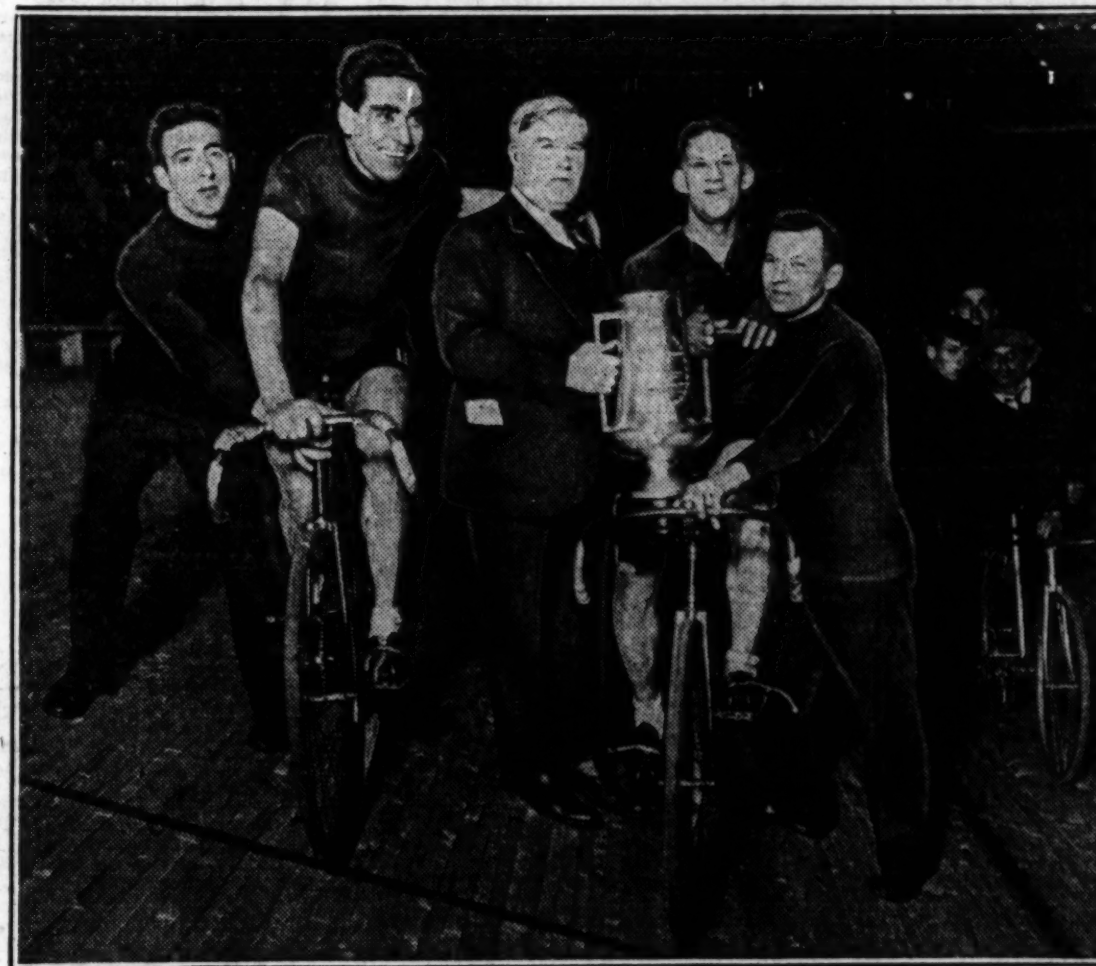

Dempsey, however, will have no corner on the Rickard heritage, as revealed by the frequent announcements made all week at the six day bike race at the Chicago Stadium. White Dempsey is encouraging 126 and 147 pound potential world champions, Paddy Harmon and his dotted line director, Nate Lewis, are getting set to select the successor to Gene Tunney in a manner satisfactory to all.

The first step in this colossal program, as many fans have heard, will be undertaken when Pauline Uscudun and Tufty Griffith face each other at the Stadium Nov. 23.

Basque Arrives Saturday.

The news in the project just now is that the Basque heavyweight and his picturesque retinue will arrive in Chicago Saturday, prepared to submit to interviews pertaining to Pauline's career as a woodchopper and linguist and other items of public import. Griffith will arrive Monday, also prepared to talk for publication.

Amateurs May Play Pros, U.S. Net Chiefs Say

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Tennis produced an off-season sensation today in the shape of definite action by the United States Lawn Tennis association in favor of open competition between amateurs and professionals.

If the unprecedented proposals submitted to the International Lawn Tennis federation in Paris by the United States Lawn Tennis association is accepted the way will be open no later than next year for such epic matches, now impossible, as Helen Wills vs. Suzanne Lenglen, Karel Kozeluh vs. Bill Tilden, and Henri Cochet or Rene Lacoste vs. Vincent Richards.

In perhaps the most significant development in tennis since the game expanded and spread from the private lawns of the wealthy into the public parks and the international arena, the United States unhesitatingly has taken the lead. The action of the United States Lawn Tennis association marks the first step taken by any nation toward the goal of open competition.

If accepted by a two-thirds vote at the annual meeting of the federation in Paris on or about March 15, 1930, the proposed change will become effective immediately.

The order suspends Toporcer and Manager Billy Southworth of the Rochester club $500 for "creating a mob scene" in the final contest of the little world series between Rochester and Kansas City of the American association at Rochester Oct. 13.

Garden Raids Heavyweight Market; Buys Out Fugazy

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Far be it from me to jeer at wounds, having been somewhat bruised myself, but I have been wondering whether the great rearrangement in the heavyweight department of the prize fighting industry which is now going on in New York is related to these conditions or is merely a series of happenings which merely happened to happen at this time. But they are tremendous developments, and there is no foretelling their significance to posterity. Humbert Fugazy, the lightest fight promoter, has sold his liabilities to the Madison Square Garden corporation, whose stock has been feeble, for $40,000, and will now retire. Thus he will finally abandon his plan to build a super garden in New York, with a seating capacity of 35,000 and a unique floor plan whereby 35,000 seats were to have been in the first row.

The Garden corporation bought out Mr. Fugazy just in time, as it was his intention to break ground for this super-garden next week. In fact, it has constantly been his intention to break ground for this edifice next week for the last ten years, and I have received many beautiful architectural drawings from his office in the past.

Fugazy Has Sold Out.

But in the case of prize fight production in Miami, Fla., even if the price of admission should be reduced to $5, $3 and $2, it will still be a problem to bring the customers to the arena in paying quantities because the price of admission last year was the least of the expenses of the patrons. There was the matter of transportation from New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and so forth, and there were other matters, such as room rent at $20 a day and one thing and another at anywhere from one dollar a drink to ten dollars a quart, which ran up the cost of a casual run down to the prize fight to a minimum of $500 per customer. Most persons of the one-tomorrow class nowadays seem to have more urgent uses for $500 and it is distressing to note how many of them haven't got $500.

Being no economist nor expert on the restless forces of change, I do not know whether the great rearrangement in the heavyweight department of the prize fighting industry which is now going on in New York is related to these conditions or is merely a series of happenings which merely happened to happen at this time. But they are tremendous developments, and there is no foretelling their significance to posterity. Humbert Fugazy, the lightest fight promoter, has sold his liabilities to the Madison Square Garden corporation, whose stock has been feeble, for $40,000, and will now retire. Reggie McNamara and Gaetano Belloni, the American-Italian team, won the six day bicycle race which ended at the Chicago Stadium last night. They finished one lap ahead of the field. Alfred Letourner and Paul Brocardo, the French combination was second, one lap back. The German pair of Victor Rausch and Franz Deulberg were third, one lap behind, but second position went to the French team, which scored 467 points in the sprints, against 353 for the Germans.

The final night of racing was very tame compared to other six day grinds held in Chicago. The crowd urged the riders to start running but they refused to cut loose until the final hour of sprinting which started at 10 o'clock. During this time, when every mile was a sprint, the jamming was not as interesting as it was on former nights and afternoons of the event.

Only Two Laps Stolen.

Although the French team of Letourner and Brocardo tried to regain the lap which would place them in even terms with the leaders, the field was alert and chased every time either French rider tried to steal a lap. During the final hour only two laps were stolen and there was but one spill. Jimmy Walthour blew a tire on the home stretch but was not hurt. Deulberg's front tire blew on the back stretch, but the German did not fall.

McNamara and Belloni, who went into the lead during the riding Wednesday morning, easily retained their advantage. Even before the final hour of racing they watched other riders carefully and always were within reach of the leaders. They fell into fourth or fifth positions after telling the pacers and never were caught in the back field.

Neither McNamara nor Belloni tried to jam. They did their share of chasing and never were in danger of being lapped. Although numbers of the best races of his career, while Reggie rode in his old time form Wednesday morning and last night. The Italian did most of the chasing when the fast riders left the field, and then McNamara took up the going and overtook the leaders.

No. 14 for Reggie.

It was McNamara's fourteenth victory in a six day bike race. He has started in fifty-six. Although numbers of bike fans thought Reggie was through, he showed the crowd last night that he can compete with any of the present day riders.

The French team of Letourner and Brocardo rode a splendid race. This combination was always dangerous, and during the final hour of racing they started several jams, but the field refused to permit them to get away.

Rausch and Deulberg, the German combination, were contenders until the final sprint when they were out of the race. Deulberg won the sprint, but each time the field chased.

Freddie Spencer and Gerard Debaets, the American-Belgian team, and Charley Winter and Jimmy Walthour, the New York combination, were tied in mileage for fourth place, but the honors went to the former combination, which scored 873 points in the sprint, against 813 for Winter and Walthour. Both teams were two laps back.

Georgetti III; Quits.

The combination of Hill and Beckman and Rehili and Rieger tied in mileage for sixth place but Hill and Beckman won the position by scoring 723 points, while the German-Swiss combination counted 569 points. Both teams were three laps behind the leading combination. Zuchetti and Vermeersch, the Italian-Belgian team was eighth, four laps behind McNamara and Belloni.

During the jamming in the final hour Spencer and Debaets gained a lap while the field gave a circuit to Zuchetti and Vermeersch. Eight of the original sixteen teams started in the final hour of sprinting. Just before 10 o'clock the teams of Stockholms and Kockles and Lamb and Dempsey were withdrawn.

Georgetti and Linari were forced out at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Georgetti was sick and unable to continue. Combinations of Horder and Horder and Croley and Horan pulled out at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

During the six days of racing 512 laps were stolen.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Ott Sonnenberg retained his world heavyweight wrestling title in a bout with Strangler Lewis here tonight. Sonnenberg won two out of three falls, stitching Lewis to the mat in the second and third periods.

HANLEY CARRIES OUT EXPERIMENT WITH BACK FIELD

Drills N. U. Squad on Rain Soaked Gridiron.

Several new back field combinations were tried by Coach Dick Hanley yesterday as he conducted a spirited drill in the rain and mud at Northwestern. Whether these changes indicate a revamped lineup for the Indiana game Saturday is doubtful. Inability of Gus Berghorn to resume practice this week may be one reason for the shifting of the back field candidates. Besides suffering from a cold, Berghorn still is banged up from the Ohio game. The full back, however, is expected to be ready for duty Saturday. His passing, kicking, and running ability, prominent factors in the Wildcat victories, will be in demand for the remaining games on the schedule.

Hold Long Signal Drill.
Two varsity teams participated in a lengthy signal drill during the early part of the practice. One back field combination consisted of Lee Hanley, quarterback; Baxter and Griffin, half backs; and Caldwell, full back. The other back field was composed of Hanley, quarterback; Halls, Burnstine, and Greenberg, half backs; and Al Moore, full back. The latter has been working at half back in the last three games, but played full back earlier in the season.

The line likewise may present a few changes when the team lines up for the kickoff. Coach Hanley is pleased with the improvement of Paul Reger, written, 200 pound tackle, and may give him his chance to start Saturday.

Oliphant Reports for Practice.
Larry Oliphant reported for practice yesterday for the first time since the Ohio game. He is practically recovered from the bump he received on the shoulder.

An elaborate homecoming celebration will start tomorrow night in Evanston with the big parade of sorority and fraternity floats through the principal streets. After the parade the big homecoming bonfire will be built and then a pep session will be held at the gymnasium, where Dick Hanley, Tug Wilson and other members of the athletic staff will speak.

INDIANA TESTS PUNTERS

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Punting and more punting was the order today during Indiana's second last scrimmage in preparation for Northwestern Saturday.

In Baley and Hughes, Page has two good kickers. He hopes to keep the Purple athletes in safe territory through superior punting. Both kickers are in excellent condition, due to two weeks' layoff, and Hoosier fans expect them to average better than 40 yards. In practice this afternoon they were doing 50 and 60 yards with sufficient left to give the ends a chance to get down to the receivers.

The two weeks' rest has brought renewed strength to the entire squad. Four full varsity teams were used in the maneuvers today.

Page will wait until noon tomorrow before naming the men to make the trip to Evanston. Despite the disheartening season the Hoosiers have experienced to date, the largest special train of the year will leave Bloomington Friday night. The caravan will bear the 110 piece band and 750 Indiana students.

If a Play Fails, Try, Try Again, Coaches Tell Pilots

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

If a play fails to gain the first time, keep on trying until it does.

This command will be among the final instructions given to quarter backs of eleven engaging in important games Saturday. Fundamental plays which have been built around star players must have a chance to work.

If a play fails to gain on the first attempt, there is no reason it should be discarded. Every member of the offensive eleven has been given a definite assignment, and if instructions are carried out, the formations should gain ground.

Defense Likely to Let Down.
Fast, elusive ball carriers often are stopped early in the battles, but as the games wear on, the defense does not respond so well. There is likely to be a lapse by some member of the defensive team, and that is the time the ball carrier may be turned loose for a long gain.

When Chick Hanley was winning fame at Ohio State, he was sent off his right tackle time and again. He was stopped with short yardage or no gains, but the play was not discarded, for later he would slip away for scores which resulted in victories for the Buckeyes. Hanley was an elusive runner, quick to take openings and once past the scrimmage line was difficult to tackle.

Dr. John W. Wilce, an excellent coach, was in charge of football when Hanley was at Ohio State. Dr. Wilce planned several forward passes in which Hanley and Pete Stinchcomb were passer and receiver, respectively. If the passes failed, they continued to try them until they finally connected. Passes brought several victories when these players were the featured warriors of the Scarlet and Gray eleven.

Opening Comes in Second Half.
A few years ago, Notre Dame defeated the Army by one touchdown. Christy Flanagan, Notre Dame's best ball carrier at that time, was sent inside and outside his right tackle throughout the first two periods. He tried to break two or three yards and then again he would be stopped at the scrimmage line.

Between halves, Coach Rockne gave instructions to keep using Flanagan on off tackle starts. Near the end of the third quarter, Flanagan broke loose off his right tackle, cut back toward the center of the field and

Amateur Boxing

Ray Baldwin and Billy Murphy, local featherweights, meet in the windup of the amateur show at 6230 South Halsted street tonight. Six other fights have been scheduled.

Roosevelt Haines, a Tribune Golden Gloves winner, will oppose Haywood Story in the feature fight of the show at 6556 Stony Island avenue tomorrow night. A card of eight fights will be staged.

The regular weekly amateur show will be held at the Coulton gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street, tonight. Among some of the well known local amateurs who will appear are Willie Haines, Miles Eulati, Axel Johnson and Joe Seretich.

George Shroesbee and Pete Verri will top the card of fights at the Hippodrome tomorrow night. Promoter Joe Coffey has arranged seven other bouts.

CUBAN CHALLENGES ALEKHINE.
PARIS, France, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Joe Capablanca, Cuban chess master, has issued a formal challenge to Alexander Alekhine, Russian expert, who has just won the world chess championship at Wiesbaden. Capablanca previously had sent challenge through friends, but Alekhine insisted on a formal written challenge which Capablanca has mailed.

IT'S WORK AND MORE WORK FOR BOILERMAKERS

Drill at Top Speed to Stop Hawkeyes.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—There was no letup today in the intensity of Purdue's grid preparations for the all-important game with Iowa here Saturday. Coach Jimmy Phelan's "four riveters" were kept on the jump intercepting yearling passes on a gridiron in anything but favorable condition. The fresh, of course, were carefully coached on Iowa's pet passing plays. At the same time the Boiler-maker forward wall did its best to keep its footing against the "Iowa" assaults at the line.

Although the Hawkeye forward wall will average about seven pounds heavier per man than Purdue, the Boiler-makers are depending upon speed to match this disadvantage.

Seniors to Close Careers.
Coach Ingwersen's attempt to knock another Big Ten title contender off its perch Saturday will find at least eleven members of the Purdue squad, including Ed Caraway, end, whose football career ended in the Chicago game, primed to give everything in their final home appearance in a Purdue football uniform.

The seniors slated to make their last home appearance against Iowa include, in addition to Caraway, the following: Bill Mackie and Bill Werner, ends; Elmer (Red) Slight, tackle; Ralph Welch and Glenn Harmon, backs; K. F. Lange, reserve center; H. L. Huntzinger, reserve end; H. A. Kaumeier, reserve guard; R. C. Myers and M. D. Stewart, reserve tackles.

Workout Scheduled Today.
Members of the football squad and Boiler-maker followers are keeping one eye on the sky, hopeful that weather conditions Saturday will be such as to provide a fast, dry field. Coach Phelan plans another comparatively hard workout tomorrow and then a light drill Friday before the squad retires to the Lafayette Country club to spend the night before the game.

couple double deck bunka, away backed and dented.

"Interference, Follow Me!"
Mullins, according to boys in nearby rooms, talks in his sleep, often shouting football instruction at the top of his voice. The other night he could be heard growling: "Give me that mail. Interference, follow me."

Mullins and Shay still are pulling for Al Smith. At least his picture adorns their apartment. Both appear to have their girlfriends. We noticed a couple of pictures propped up on their desks and both looked pretty smooth.

Mullins, like most prominent athletes, gets fan mail. It includes letters from kids asking him to autograph footballs, headgears, and what not. He tries to answer these. There are many letters from pests asking for tickets. He refers these to Mr. Art Haley, whose only worry this week is satisfying 120,000 persons that there are 120,000 good seats in Soldier's field.

Mullins is working for a bachelor of arts degree. Like his team mate, Brill, he has another year of football eligibility. Mullins is not particularly worked up over battling the highest scoring team in the land before the biggest crowd that will see a football game this autumn. It's just another football game for him.

Rockne Directs Drill.
They took Knute Rockne to Carter field in an ambulance again today and he directed the last hard workout the team will have before meeting the Trojans on Soldier's field.

Rockne's ailing leg, heavily bandaged, confined him to his wheel chair. Each trip he makes to the football field sets back his recovery a week or two, doctors say. But there is no holding Rock this week. Southern California is regarded as the most formidable foe on a schedule bristling with strong opposition. Rockne plans to go to Chicago Friday night and will direct his team from a wheel chair at Soldier's field.

KIPKE DEVELOPS RESERVE FORCES FOR GOPHER GAME

Wolverines Leave Today; Squad Is Fit.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—More and more is Coach Kipke convinced that the abilities of his reserves may be the determining factor in the Michigan-Minnesota struggle for the Little Brown Jug at Minneapolis Saturday. Besides grooming Leo Dawling for right tackle, he is planning to use Ed Hayden at left tackle.

While Gembis, Morrison, Sturall, and Dahlem undoubtedly will be at the starting back field, a flock of backs is being prepared to replace the regulars in emergencies.

None realizes more than Kipke how short a time has been allotted the Wolverines to prepare for the Gophers. He made a last minute decision to hold a short practice early tomorrow afternoon, before the squad departs westward.

With the exception of Hudson, through for the season, the Wolverines all are in good shape. Blocking and tackling was emphasized in today's drill. Freshmen were victims in tackling practice.

Sturall, Dahlem, and Morrison watched the frog go through Minnesota plays from the side lines, while Wheeler, Danuels, and Wilson occupied the backfield posts to familiarize themselves with the short passes, line smashes, and spinner plays employed by Minnesota. These six backs, along with Gembis, and possibly Heston or Priest all are slated to face the Gophers.

Dr. Spears worked with Berry and Westgaard at Munn's vacated left tackle position. Nagurski was kept at full back. Spears, however, insisted that he hadn't made up his mind where Bronko would start against Michigan Saturday.

Munn's injured leg continues to show improvement. Tonight he actually did some running. The Gophers spent considerable time building a defense for Michigan's passes and running game. Pete Somers left the varsity to join the yearlings in order to improve upon their Michigan aerial attack.

MARQUETTE GRID SQUAD BREAKS UP BOSTON PLAYS

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Despite a muddy field the Marquette university grid squad went through a spirited scrimmage on the stadium field this afternoon in preparation for Saturday's intercollegiate game here with Boston college.

Perhaps it was because the freshmen were a bit ragged in their presentation, but the fact remains that, with one exception, the varsity turned back the yearlings on every attempt they made today with Boston college plays. A pass for a 10 yard gain was the only advance for the frosh.

Coach Frank J. Murray finally discharged the frosh and told them to get the plays working better for another fling at the varsity tomorrow, the last heavy drill of the week.

Eight of the eleven men due to start against Boston college are from two cities—Chicago, Ill., and Green Bay, Wis. John Sisk, full back; Mel Brown, half back; Francis McElligott, quarter back, and Joe King and Ken Wendt, guards, are the Chicagoans. Green Bay will be represented by Emory Klans, half back; Art Bultman, center, and co-capt. Ken Radtke, tackle.

Major Leagues Pick April 15 Formal 1930 Opening Day

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Having nothing else to do to amuse themselves during the lull between the world series and the December business meetings, the big league managers have decided upon certain things for next year. One is that the season for both the majors will open April 15. Official notice to this effect has been served. The closing date, however, still is a matter of doubt and probably will cause more or less words to be spilled during the joint meeting in New York Dec. 12.

A certain faction among the sixteen owners is of the opinion that the ball season stretches over too many days. This fall the final games were played Oct. 6 and the faction which believes in getting the races and the world series over as quickly as possible is going to argue for a Sept. 25 conclusion for 1930. They probably will win their point.

Closing Sept. 25 would lop a week from the time consumed last season, but this can be accomplished without causing distress to any of the participants. All that is needed is the scheduling of a few double headers in the cities where Sunday ball is not a privilege. A lot of the clubs during the season deliberately cancel games for no valid reason to make possible bargain bills. They shouldn't be heard to complain if the schedule makers beat them to it.

Outside of a discussion of the closing date there is, so far as is known, nothing of importance for the managers to pass on in their joint session.

NEW PURCHASER PROBES GIANTS' $410,000 LOAN

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A court accounting of $410,000 disbursed by the New York Giants to President Charles A. Stoneham from about 1919 to 1926 has been asked by William T. Kenny, Brooklyn contractor, who purchased a one-third interest in the club a few months ago.

Leo J. Bondy, treasurer of the National Exhibition company, which owns and operates the Giants, admitted tonight that he and Mr. Stoneham had been served with summonses demanding the accounting.

Mr. Bondy asserted that there was no secret about the disbursement of the $410,000 to Mr. Stoneham, but that every loan to the president had been approved not only by the board of directors but also by the stockholders. A firm of certified public accountants, he said, had gone thoroughly over the club books at the time Mr. Kinney purchased his stock and had "found everything in order."

Francis X. McQuade, a New York City magistrate, was treasurer of the club during the period covered by the disputed disbursements. Judge McQuade was not a party to the suit.

Charge Undue Influence; Bar Prep Athlete

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Arthur L. Trester recently created commissioner of Indiana post athletics, today announced that Lowell Justice has been declared ineligible to participate in athletics as a member of the Muncie High school by the Indiana High School Athletic association's board of control.

The board indicated it believed undue influence had been used to get the boy's family to move from a farm near Desota, where he had attended school. The Justice family moved to Muncie last August and the father, Ivan, was given employment as custodian of the Muncie field house.

The board said evidence showed Ivan and Lowell Justice had met John Banta and a man named Kimbrough, Muncie business men, earlier in the year. Then they conferred with High School Principal L. S. Martin and School Superintendent Allen. Some time later, the Justice family moved to Muncie.

Three Routes for Fans Who Drive to Illini Game

University of Chicago fans who plan to motor to the Chicago-Illinois game Saturday at Champaign may take the main highways out of the city, the touring bureau of the Chicago Motor club points out.

All three routes merge at Kankakee. The shortest route runs south on Michigan avenue to Garfield boulevard, west on Garfield boulevard to Western avenue, south on Western avenue to the Southwest highway, southwest on the Southwest highway to Cicero avenue, south on Cicero avenue to the intersection with Illinois 49, and south on Illinois 49 to Kankakee.

The second route runs southwest on Archer avenue to Summit, and south from Summit on Illinois 51 to Kankakee. The third route runs south on Michigan avenue to Garfield boulevard, west on Garfield boulevard to Western avenue, south on Western avenue, following Illinois 1, otherwise known as the Dixie highway, through Momence to the intersection with Illinois 17, and Illinois 17 to Kankakee.

The route from Kankakee to Champaign is Illinois 25. The mileage between Chicago and Champaign via the first route is 127.3, the second route is 140.1, and the third route is 149.1.

Garden Raids Heavyweight Stock Market

course of the decade, labeled, "Proposed Humbert Fugazy Super-Garden Stadium, for Which Ground Will Be Broken Next Week."

In buying Mr. Fugazy's liabilities for $50,000 the Garden corporation took over his contracts with Victorio Campolo, the Argentine, who has a back as big as a skating rink and pain in every acre of it; Max Schmeling, the German pugilist, who offended the New York prize fight commission and fled to Germany as a political refugee; Fainting Phil Scott, the fold-up Englishman, and miscellaneous gladiators of all weights who had attached themselves to the fightless fight promoter for quarters, heat, and rations. They realized that Humbert could not produce prize fights in a theoretical stadium and refused to fight for anybody else. It was an easy existence.

Max's Manager Speaks Up. Just why the Garden corporation wished to acquire Mr. Campolo and his backache or Fainting Phil Scott I cannot understand, but I suppose they found that, in order to obtain a clear title to Schmeling, they would have to take over all of Mr. Fugazy's other liabilities. Mr. Schmeling's manager, in a cable from Berlin, promptly replied that Schmeling never was one of Fugazy's liabilities and therefore could not be sold to the Garden.

This makes it all very complicated and the only fortunate thing about it all is that it isn't important enough to worry about. Mr. Schmeling's manager said he would not accept the amnesty of the New York boxing commission, but would put his boxer in the ring in a super-garden at Atlantic City, which is now in process of imagination for a purse of several millions. This language speaks a misunderstanding, however, and I do not believe any one explained to Schmeling's manager just what an ass he is. Neither does it seem that he has read the papers lately, because

RETURN TO OLD YARDSTICK FOR STOCK VALUES

After a long period of being out of the things it is all, it is back to the old yardstick of three times the earnings. It is a return to the old yardstick of three times the earnings. It is a return to the old yardstick of three times the earnings.

Bullish Appraisals Are Swept Away.

By O. A. MATHER.

What are stocks worth? In the past, the answer has been "three times the earnings." But now, the answer is "three times the earnings." But now, the answer is "three times the earnings."

Good Humor for Day

After a long period of being out of the things it is all, it is back to the old yardstick of three times the earnings. It is a return to the old yardstick of three times the earnings. It is a return to the old yardstick of three times the earnings.

At Market's Height.

At the height of the recent bull market many a number of seasoned investors were selling at prices to yield four, three and two per cent, and even less, and at twenty, thirty and forty times earnings per share. And these prices were made in spite of market prices averaging around 6 per cent and bonds, both government and corporate, selling at prices to yield 4 1/2 to 5 per cent.

Attitude in Steel Trade.

"Hesitancy is still marked among iron and steel buyers and both new business and production have undergone a further decline," the Iron Age says. "In the main, apprehension regarding the consequences of the stock market collapse, rather than actual evidence of adverse effects, explains the attitude of the trade."

Automobile Sales.

Other news yesterday was mainly cheerful. The General Motors corporation reported that dealers' sales to consumers last month totaled 129,219 cars, compared with 145,171 in September, and 140,883 in October, 1928. Thus, there was little letdown from a year ago, while the decline from September was seasonal. The year-around demand for all types of machine tools, according to the American Machine Tool Builders' association, is steady.

Good Business Is Seen Due to Orderly Marketing

BY SCRUTATOR.

The upward swing of price levels on the stock exchanges had no appreciable effect on commodity prices from 1925 to 1929. While stocks climbed to the heights the general price levels of usable goods remained stationary or dropped slightly.

In Vulnerable Position.

Both the price levels and the buying habits that had developed previously to 1929 by distributors placed traders in a vulnerable position. The cycle had come to a peak and a descent to a new level was necessary in the readjustment. There had been an actual and desperate competition on the part of retailers and wholesalers to buy goods that they might have assurance of something to sell at the old high prices.

STEADY SELLING FORCES CHICAGO STOCKS LOWER

Auburn Auto Again Is Chief Loser.

Chicago stock prices continued to slip yesterday, but declines for the most part were not drastic. Values were faced with a steady flow of offerings which were prices down from 1 to 7 points. In a few isolated cases losses ranged as high as 15 and 20 points. Sales approximated 425,000 shares in the three hours of trading. Auburn Auto was again the greatest loser, closing off 20 points at 130 on a few odd lot sales. Public Service and Public Service no par issues were down 15 to 13 points, respectively. U. S. Gypsum suffered a loss of 6 1/4 points. Directors of the company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents on the common stock and $1.75 on the preferred shares. Pays Initial Dividend.

GRAIN VALUES RECOVER AFTER EARLY BREAK

Final Wheat Trades Show
Gains of 1 1/4@1 1/2c.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While the demoralization in the stock market had considerable influence on grain at one time yesterday and caused a break to a new low for the season on the deferred deliveries of wheat, corn, oats and rye there was aggressive buying on the decline. Losses were more than recovered at the close, with final trades on wheat showing net gains of 1 1/4@1 1/2c after a range of 4 1/2@5c for the day. Winnipeg wheat gained 1 1/4@1 1/2c for the day, while Buenos Aires closed 2 1/4@ 3/4c higher.

Strength in Liverpool was responsible for short covering at the start with an opening bulge of as much as 1 1/2c here, but the liquidation of a large line of wheat through houses with eastern connections, and which in part was attributed to a local operator, combined with the decline in the stock market caused a rapid break. Buying on the recession was of a good class and headed by houses with foreign and seaboard connections, and there were also rumors regarding farm board activities which attracted considerable attention.

Better Cash Demand.

An outstanding feature of the day's development was the export sales of 1,000,000 bu wheat in all positions, including hard winters, durum and Manitoba, while mills bought 300,000 bu here, and warehouse receipts for 300,000 bu in public elevators were recorded for shipment Tuesday. Liverpool ignored the decline in North America on Tuesday and closed 1/4d higher to 1/2d lower, with a better cash demand and on short covering. Decreasing hedging pressure in the wheat pit is expected ultimately to result from the action of the farm board in announcing the basis on which it would make loans. Cash interests and spreaders were good buyers of futures during the day, and taken as a whole sentiment was more bullish than it has been, as the trade feels that a strong technical position exists, and the upturn in Buenos Aires at the close is expected to have considerable effect on the Liverpool market. The February delivery at Buenos Aires which represents the new crop closed at $1.14 1/2, or the same as December in Chicago and 1/4c above Kansas City December.

World's available supply of wheat showed an unexpected reduction of 6,000,000 bu during the last week, but the total of 472,471,000 bu compares with 275,383,000 bu last year.

Liquidation in Corn.

Liquidation was on in December corn for a while early, with the March delivery selling at a new low for the season, but active commission houses and local buying absorbed the surplus in the pit, and a rally of 2 1/2@3c from the inside followed, with the finish at net gains of 1/4@2c, with December leading. Wet weather over the belt, with shipping sales of 186,000 bu to the domestic trade, had considerable influence on the nearby month, especially as country offerings to arrive were small and the spot basis was 1/4@1 1/2c higher. Buenos Aires finished 3/4@4c higher, with December 7 1/2c.

All deliveries of oats sold at a new low for the season due to a resumption of scattered liquidation, but the market rallied with other grains and closed 1/4@1 1/2c higher.

STOCK EXCHANGE OPENS HUNG FOR BEAR RADEROrders Broker Quiz as Slump Goes On.

which American Telephone & Telegraph was closed at 297, up 4 points, after having dipped to 297 1/2, a new low for the movement, earlier in the session. John Manville at 95, was up 1/2 on the day, and National Cash Register at 64, was up 1/2.

One of the most spectacular developments of the day was an order placed with a specialist in Standard Oil of New Jersey to buy 1,000,000 shares of that stock at $50 a share, the largest order, so far as is known, ever entered on the stock exchange.

Remembered to Be Rockefeller.

The account trying to buy the stock was not disclosed, but it was regarded as a warning that the stock was becoming more than an attempt to accumulate that much stock. Jersey slipped at 50, off 1/2.

John D. Rockefeller and his son, John D. Jr., who announced two weeks ago that they were buying stocks in the belief that many had reached bargain levels, have been reported as heavy buyers of Standard Oil of New Jersey in recent days. They were believed today to be the bidders for the million shares, representing a $50,000,000 commitment. R. W. Koepfer, partner of J. H. Holmes & Co., through whom the order was placed, refused to discuss the transaction.

Banking Group Maps Strategy.

Members of the banking group, organized Oct. 24 to stabilize conditions in the stock market, held no meeting today. The group did meet at a late hour last night, however, at the home of one member to discuss means of meeting the situation. Precisely what measures were agreed upon it was unable to learn, but it was reliably reported in Wall Street today that the group was active on the buying side for the first time this week.

Despite the continued decline in stock prices, there was evidence among bankers a feeling of increased optimism. In part this feeling was attributed to the belief that the bankers' group had formulated definite plans for correcting the situation. In part it was due to the understanding that Kahn, Loeb & Co., the great private banking house, had joined the coalition.

These heavy buying orders were traced to the banking group. These were placed at definite prices and only a minor part of them was executed. The fact that they were placed, ready to offer a cushion to the fall, served to reassure traders.

Foreign Bourses Uneasy.

London dispatches state that an uncertainty of worry has developed in the continental centers as to the ultimate effect on securities there if the Wall Street decline continues. It is reported that Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam have been harder hit by securities in the American market than has London.

The uncertainty abroad is aggravated to some extent by a fall in commodity prices, particularly tin, rubber and copper, all apparently as an indirect result of the shake up at New York.

Sales on the New York exchange set a new high record for the shortened hours session, totaling 7,746,700 shares, as compared with 6,452,700 yesterday. The ticker was under a snap and a half in catching up after the close. Curb sales increased to 2,779,450 from 2,204,700 yesterday.

STREET EAGER FOR FACTS

New York, Nov. 13. — [Special.] — Stock exchange officials made it plain tonight that the object of their order regarding all members to submit definite and exact observations of stocks was not issued with the object of lessening the financial condition of brokerage houses. The sole object, it was emphasized, was to endeavor to trace to its source the unprecedented and inexplicable decline in stock prices in the past weeks.

While a large amount of short selling has been reported, it has been pointed out that this alone could not account for the market's persistent decline.

It appears that if professional bearish activity has been a major factor in the decline, it has been the result of a pool so powerful that it has been able to thwart all efforts of constructive elements in the market. Such a theory has generally been regarded as unorthodox and most observers have attributed the selling to the unloading of stocks by very large traders who were tripped in the first smash. The selling has been so enormous, however, that an explanation has seemed inadequate.

Wall Street is keenly interested in this move by the stock exchange, and what it may disclose as to what has been going on in the stock market. The exchange makes no promises, however, that the results will be made public. In the past it has not been the policy of the exchange to make public the results of such questionnaires to members.

N. Y. CURB STOCKS
DOWN TO LOWER
TRADING LEVELS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, Nov. 13. — Stocks on the New York exchange dropped their way steadily into lower ground today on a heavy volume of trading. Initial transactions were negotiated in large blocks at somewhat higher levels, but the buying did not hold out and soon everything on the board was edging its way down the price ladder. The turnover was 2,779,000 shares, more than a half million shares above yesterday.

Trading was heaviest in Cities Service, American Cyanamid, B. General Electric of Great Britain, Goldman Sachs, Niagara Power, and Midway Utilities when issued. It was taken as an encouraging sign that none of these issues had a net loss of more than three points, and that in at least two instances the declines were fractional.

SUNSET STORES.
W. P. Sunset Stores, Inc., was incorporated in Delaware, May 7, 1929. The corporation has acquired through subsidiaries, the assets and business of Joyce Fruit company, Grissom Stores, Carter Houston Stores, Wadley Willcocks Stores, and various other stores. The properties thus acquired include combined net sales of stores then owned by subsidiaries of stores then owned by the company more than twenty stores operating in eastern New Mexico and western Texas.

In July it was estimated that company had net sales of $1,000,000 for the year ended June 30, 1929, after payment of taxes, amounting to $207,657. Net profit of these stores in 1928, after payment of taxes, was approximately $222 per share earned on the common stock, on the basis of the present outstanding capitalization. This figure does not take into consideration savings that may have been effected through the consolidation of the company.

Board of Trade Building LA SALLE STREET

When you rent office space you pay for "location"

It is strange, but nevertheless a fact, that when inferior office locations are chosen "to save rent," this saving seldom offsets the loss of value.

Superior location usually costs less in proportion to its value. It is a large factor in attracting and properly impressing customers and clients.

With this in mind, consideration of the new Board of Trade Building is invited.

Here is "location" at the head of La Salle Street, among the Midwest's business and financial leaders, in a building with name and prestige recognized by millions.

What will the modern slot machine do to the manufacturer?

IF RETAILING is reduced to the simple process of a nickel, or a dime, or a dollar in the slot, whose merchandise will be sold?

Here is another change in retailing—another new factor in distribution. How far will it go? How will it affect the manufacturer?

Further changes are inevitable for America has accepted the idea of improvement, of progress, of better merchandise and better merchandising.

But this one fact is of outstanding significance: A greater and greater portion of everything America buys is nationally advertised. The real safeguard to permanent success for any manufacturer is public confidence in his name and public demand for his product.

In the change from blind buying, from old habits, old methods, narrow thinking, Crowell Publications have had a tremendous influence. They have achieved a magazine circulation of over eight million—greater than that of any other publishing house in America. Their readers comprise a nation within a nation—a nation of alert, active families—open minded to new ideas, imbued with the desire to own, armed with the ability to buy.

To the manufacturer of modern merchandise Crowell Publications offer the one outstanding means of establishing a demand for his product. And public demand is the greatest guarantee of permanent success.

We have just published a book called "These Merchandising Changes." It deals with distribution—its past, its present, with somewhat of a forecast into the future. The facts it contains should be interesting to manufacturers, sales managers, and advertising managers. A copy of it will be sent to any business executive on request. ## Housebroken

By PAUL HERVEY FOX

SYNOPSIS

Tom Davis, football star of a small eastern college, plays brilliantly in his last year. After the battle, Bruce Stevens, his roommate, asks him to go to the dance that night to avoid meeting one of the chaperones. Tom agrees to substitute for him. The next morning, Tom meets Suzanne in New York. Suzanne breaks her engagement to the other man when she and Tom realize they love each other, and Suzanne invites him to her home to meet her family. Suzanne goes down to the college for commencement.

After graduation Tom's father gives him a small house at Stamford as a wedding present.

Suzanne and Tom are married in November and for the first few months are perfectly happy. One day Tom starts to turn to have dinner with some college friends and he returns Suzanne upbraids him. The storm blows over and a few weeks later he promises to attend a prize fight with some of the boys. Suzanne creates such a scene that Tom gives up the idea.

About a year after their marriage Bruce Stevens returns from a trip to the Orient. Tom is delighted to see him.

INSTALLMENT X. ANOTHER SCENE.

Tom grinned. He liked to bait Bruce, because he didn't often have that satisfaction. And he looked at his friend, realizing that after all, these first friendships were strongest, and had in them more understanding than any others. Yet he was sad, too, for it came over him that as life goes on your friends are the people you do things with, and Bruce and he had taken opposite paths.

He had told Bruce he was to come up to the country with him tonight. "No good. I've got to be in the city in the morning."

"Well, I have to be in the city every morning. We'll take the train in together."

"O, come on. You're expected. Suzanne wants to meet you. Your room's all ready."

Bruce nodded. "All right. I'll be here a couple of weeks, anyway, you know."

"You can stay up there. You might as well."

"Sure it's all right?"

Tom didn't even answer. The evening deepened, and like an hour glass the whisky bottle grew gradually emptier. Bruce had begun talking about his experiences. Enjoying the sound of his own voice, he let himself go. Tom sat back, listening, with a long cigar burning between his fingers.

He frowned a little, and puffed on his cigar.

It was an incredible tale that Bruce poured out. Rapidly the scene changed. He never seemed to have been more than a month in one place. He had stayed with a coffee planter, a Dutchman. "A bad egg. He put his eye on a certain Eurasian girl. . . . He suspected something. I ran, and she was waiting. She had a sort of rat ready for me on the river. I couldn't even see her in the darkness. I wondered afterward what happened to her."

"But you left her to him?" Tom asked. "A man like that would probably beat her."

"O, she'd probably like that."

He talked of the treasure hunt, of men dying of tropical fevers in the heat and the loneliness. He talked of strange cities, and erratic acquaintances. "Are you going back?"

"In about six months. You couldn't keep me away from there."

Tom sighed. He would have enjoyed having adventures too, he felt. Bruce helped himself to another drink.

Stretching himself, Tom looked at his watch. "Great Scott!" he exclaimed.

"What's the matter?"

"We've missed the last train."

"Is that all? Well, we can put up here."

"No—it's better to go home. Suzanne's expecting us. We'll take a cab."

"You'll go broke."

"Come on!"

"Wait till I finish the whisky."

"Bring the bottle along with you."

The cab crawled through the traffic of a sleepless city, and came at last upon the silence of the Post road. It was a long journey. Bruce swigged at the bottle, throwing it through the window finally a mile away from home.

Tom felt vaguely worried. He had equipped himself earlier in the evening with a box of expensive chocolates, but surely Suzanne would be asleep by this hour. He had drunk very little. Bruce had had most of the bottle, but showed no effects.

For the last hour Tom had been sitting with legs crossed on the steps, watching the front of him. It wasn't until he arrived that he realized that his right foot had gone to sleep. Getting out, he stumbled and awoke. At that moment he looked up at the house. There was a light in the bedroom. It seemed to him there had been the faintest movement of the shade.

He paid the chauffeur, and led his friend inside. He talked in a whisper, as if fearing to wake some one. "There's your room. See you in the morning. I get up at seven."

"Right!"

Tom stole down the hallway on tiptoe, and Bruce entered his own room, switched on the light, pulled off his own coat in leisurely fashion. He was not yet sleepy, and he got into bed without turning off the light. He had a final cigarette there.

Suddenly there came to his ears a faint but sharp sound, like an outcry. He heard a series of sharp rattling noises, as if a handful of pebbles had been dropped on the floor. Through the walls came a woman's voice, clear and taut. He could just make out a few words here and there.

"I don't care . . . won't stay here if he does . . . coming home to me like this . . . hate you . . . oh, why didn't I?"

The knowing young man thoughtfully puffed at his cigarette. He judged that the noise which had resembled the clatter of pebbles had been the sudden overturning of the box of chocolates.

He frowned a little, and puffed at his cigarette. The voice grew lower, but there was an indistinguishable rumble of talk, and the sound of intermittent weeping. Then silence, though not the silence of sleep.

Bruce yawned, and turned off his light. Soon he at least slept like the innocent and the just.

In the morning Tom was shaking him into wakefulness. He was dreaming that he was beside some tropical river, and there had been an outbreak. He jumped out of bed, rubbed his hands across his eyes, and stared dazedly.

"Almost time to go," Tom said. "Suzanne isn't feeling so well this morning. But I've made some coffee for us downstairs. Hurry up! We've just got time to make that train."

Tom's face looked worn. His mouth was set grimly. Bruce pulled on his clothes, drank the pale, lifeless fluid which Tom poured out of the percolator, and had his first experience of commuter life. Cars dashed madly for the station as if lives depended upon it. They had scarcely parked and locked their own before the train was in.

They found seats in the smoker, and Tom handed Bruce a paper. But Bruce left it on his lap.

"By the way, Tom," he said casually, "I'll have to be in the city quite late as a rule. You know, putting over this proposition I came on for isn't an easy job. So I'm thinking it would be better if I put up at a hotel in town."

Tom turned a humorless face towards him, and spoke in a voice that sounded strange and harsh.

"I want you to stay," he said, as if with difficulty. "It will be—it will be a favor to me. There's a special reason why I'm asking you."

Bruce studied him, seeing how deeply he was troubled. He read behind the present, imagined what had possibly led up to this determination that there was no plain in Tom's eyes.

He was getting a rough deal of some sort, no doubt of that. He needed help. It was of a peculiarly delicate sort, involving considerable peril to the future.

With his headlong impulse, Bruce did not hesitate. Besides Tom was his friend, almost the only friend he had.

Chicago Bishop Presides Over Episcopalians

Rt. Rev. C. P. Anderson Chosen at Washington.

(Picture on back page.)

[Chicago Tribune News Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13. — [Special.]—The Right Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, bishop of Chicago, was elected presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States by the house of bishops of that church in session here tonight.

Bishop Anderson will fill the two years of the unexpired term of the late Bishop John G. Murray of Atlantic City, who died Oct. 2.

The Chicago prelate received the required majority of 68 votes on the sixteenth ballot, after voting had occupied almost the entire afternoon. A dozen other bishops were rivals for the office.

The office of presiding bishop is the highest gift within the Anglican church, of which the American church operates as an independent branch. Election of the presiding bishop of the American church corresponds with selection of the archbishop of Canterbury in England.

Bishop Anderson, by reason of his position as vice chairman of the house of bishops, has been acting presiding bishop of the church since the death of Bishop Murray. While he will fill the unexpired two years of Bishop Murray's term as a result of today's election, another election for the full six year term will be held at the general convention of the church in Denver, Colo., in 1931.

Bishop Anderson held the post of president of the national council, the executive and administrative head of the church.

Nearly 100 bishops from all parts of the country participated in today's convocation. They met behind the closed doors of Bethlehem chapel in the Washington cathedral. The election was preceded by a service of holy communion at which the celebrant was Bishop Anderson assisted by Bishop Lattimer Bureson of South Dakota.

No ceremony was attached to this brief and simple service. Only bishops before the altar were clothed in their vestments.

Nominations for the office of presiding bishop were made from the floor, following which slips of paper were distributed. After each indecisive ballot, the votes were destroyed and the balloting continued until Bishop Anderson received the necessary majority this evening.

Medical Progress Will Be Feature During the Chicago World's Fair

The development of bacteriology and its connection with medicine, surgery and sanitation will be demonstrated in an exhibit at the 1933 Century of Progress exposition, according to Prof. S. Bayne-Jones, chairman of the fair's bacteriology committee. The committee held its first meeting yesterday at the John McCormick institute. Dr. Bayne-Jones is a member of the medical faculty at the University of Rochester.

"The century of progress, from 1833 to 1933, includes almost the entire development of bacteriology," he said. "During that time bacteriology has effected some of the most important advances in the history of medicine."

Motion pictures of millions of minute bacteria, taken through a microscope, will be included in the exhibit. Dr. Frank Billings, chairman of the fair's bacteriology committee, said the exhibit's committee on medicine, was in charge of the meeting.

Size of the Frock Not So Important as Way It Fits

In an era of reducing, the like of which no other generation has ever witnessed, one wonders why so many women defeat their purpose of "crowding" the way they do—crowding short, broad feet into high heeled stubby shoes; crowding too plump arms into tight sleeves; crowding fat faces into skin tight, hard edged hats—yes, and crowding also 40 into 38 and 36 dresses.

If you want to give the impression of slenderness you have to look as though you fitted easily into clothes, not as if you were poured into them and left to "jell." A short, broad foot, for instance, should strive for length and ease instead of being put into something that makes it bulge over the ankles, around the lower sides where the shoe is cut low. To look its best, this type of foot should be trained to keep out of leathers that give an added effect of breadth and thickness—leathers with patterns, I mean. High buckles worn on dress shoes, as they are this season, aren't so good, either, since they further shorten the shoe length and add to the general thickness of foot and ankle.

As simple as a shoe and as long as it can be comfortably worn is the best beauty cue for this sort of foot. You see women on the street, usually heavy set ones, whose feet in the stubby, thick-toed shoe look more like horses' hoofs than human extremities.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
G. V. N.: WANTS ON THE FACE should be treated by a reputable skin specialist. The work may be done without leaving a scar if you put yourself in competent hands. You may treat the warts on your hands. Instructions may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

S. E. G.: MASSAGE WILL HELP to fill out the hollows in your neck but the results will be more quickly obtained if you will combine exercises with the massage. Deep breathing exercises are excellent. Swimming is good. I'll mail you deep breathing exercises if you'll send me a stamped addressed envelope.

They have a toppy way of walking, too, that detracts from their appearance. It isn't the size of the modern Cinderella's slipper that counts, but the slenderness of the foot. Long sleeves will help to impart length to the arm that is short and fat. But if it is tight, the bulging ruins the picture.

Dresses and suits are chosen to tickle the vanity rather than the figure when a size or two too small is insisted upon. But a woman is only fooling herself and that none too successfully if she feels crowded in the article. Time was when a woman weighing over 145 pounds thought she had to get into a tightly tailored suit, but that state of mind (and figure) has long since been dissipated by smart modistes' advice to clients to leave a breathing space between self and costume.

A Long Wait.

A few summers ago I participated in a swimming meet at the lake. I drove down with some friends, and was dressed ready for the meet, not caring to use the crowded dressing rooms. The race ended about a mile away and it was only when I got there that I thought about the means of getting back. It took me nearly an hour and a half to get back on a slow old tug. In the meantime my friends, thinking something had happened, had gone to the finish by auto, which was roundabout and congested. Imagine my dismay to find the car and friends gone, and myself alone. The only thing I could do was to stand on the curb in an abbreviated silk tank suit so I would not miss them when they came back. They finally did come after I had stood there for what seemed to be an hour.

Hawaii Sandwiches.

I am a waitress in a loop restaurant. The other day we had Hawaii sandwiches on our menu. I had not looked at the menu, so did not know. A gentleman took his seat at my table looked at the menu, then glancing up at me, said, "Hawaii." I said, "I'm fine, thank you, how are you today?" Then he started laughing and pointed to our menu—Hawaii sandwich. I felt like less than 15 cents.

FORMER KAISER WILL NOT ATTEND SISTER'S BURIAL

Phoned to Inquire Health of Princess Victoria.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BONN, Nov. 13.—Brought up on the steps of one of Europe's proudest thrones, and pursued through life by singular romantic misfortune, the life of Princess Victoria of Prussia ended almost destitute and entirely alone. Her sister Margaret, marchioness of Hessen, was present in Bonn, but was not allowed to see the patient. Former Kaiser Wilhelm phoned the hospital twice daily during the crisis for news of his favorite sister, whose recent mental and physical suffering wiped out the imperial anger of her last matrimonial venture.

From Berlin come dispatches that the former kaiser will not attend the funeral. Representatives of the house of Hohenzollern have said his presence at the rites are "wholly out of the question."

Rumors Hint at Suicide.
A severe attack of influenza, complicated by a previous organic trouble, developed acute inflammation of the lungs. The physician stated that the princess did not try to fight the disease, but let herself go, realizing she had nothing left to live for. Popular belief goes further. There is a strong rumor in Bonn that Princess "Vicky," as the former kaiser once called her, committed suicide because her family forced her to file suit for divorce against the man of her choice.

Twice Princess Victoria's love affairs received world-wide publicity. The first time was when Bismarck, fearing political complications and degrading the will of Queen Victoria of England, forbade her marriage to Prince Alexander of Battenburg, who wanted to make her consort on the Bulgarian throne. The second time was when, as a sixty-two-year old widow of Prince Adolf Schuerg-Lippe, she married the twenty-eight old Russian émigré adventurer, Alexander Sukhotin.

"Alexander of Battenburg's wedding was heaven, the Adolf episode was purgatory," she told her relatives a short time ago. A relative in telling the story, dryly added, "Then Sukhotin took her to hell."

"I'm Happy," Says Diary.
The day she accepted Alexander Sukhotin, she wrote in her diary: "I am entirely happy. The family's opposition to my marriage does not matter. I will overcome all obstacles. Rank, title, and money I will cheerfully give up, but my happiness I am determined to keep. He loves me and I love him. I feel a new life opening up before me."

Elmer Likes Drama Better After 7 P. M.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The new weekly musical-dramatic production from New York, through KTW, 630 to 7, appears to be receiving considerable attention. A summary of audience reaction to the two broadcasts to date is as follows: Orchestra and choral music, given separately and jointly, is impressive and commendable. The musical program would be more acceptable and more intelligently enjoyed if titles of the selections were announced. The dramatic content, though well handled and realistically carried out, is reduced in importance and effectiveness due to the early hour of the broadcast. Finally, it would be more nearly satisfactory if it were almost entirely a musical program.

The concert by the Rochester Civic orchestra, through KTW, 9:30 to 10, is another current weekly offering that merits hearing, and it is as enjoyable as it is worth while. If it is desired to further raise its standard, the fulsome and the commonplaceness of the announcer's continuity should be curtailed.

The Federal Male chorus of Cudahy, Wis., made its appearance in concert and in costume, though we saw not the costumes, through WLS, 8:30 to 9, and one could well wish the chorus were resident of Chicago, so pleasing was the concert. The program of normal musical weight and the rich voices were, combined, productive of highly satisfactory results.

The New York orchestra program featuring Oliver Palmer and John Oliver, through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9:30, seemed to have an unusually colorful and dignified bearing. The orchestra numbers were enticing, the choral assistance to many of the orchestra selections were highly effective, and the selections by the two distinguished soloists were uncommonly high class.

The comparatively new Wednesday series of W-G-N 7:30 to 8 orchestral programs is somewhat out of the regular run of studio programs. It is obvious that a genuine effort is being made to make this program one of universal appeal.

FIRST COLORED WOMAN TO SEEK ASSEMBLY SEAT

The first colored woman to seek a seat in the Illinois general assembly will announce her candidacy tonight. She is Mrs. Mary C. Clarke, president of the Illinois Women's Republican league, and she will place herself in the race for representative for the 5th or Hyde Park district at the first anniversary dinner of the organization at the Bird Cafe tearoom, 4500 South Michigan avenue.

Last year the 5th district for the first time sent a colored man, William J. Wardfield, to Springfield. In the Republican primary he ran second in a field of seven candidates, receiving 40,759 votes out of a total of 144,874 cast for members of the legislature, and defeating Representative Sidney Lyon. The only candidate ahead of him in the totals was Mrs. Flora S. Cheney, who has since died.

The Negro population of the 5th district has increased considerably since last year, but since Wardfield is again a candidate the politicians question whether the Republicans of the district will select two colored citizens as their only two nominees for the legislature.

Stubbornness Is Often the Outcome of Mismanagement

By Doris Blake

A booklet by Mrs. Doris Blake on "Books to Be Read to Children" is being sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"What can I do with my little girl? She is so stubborn as a mule." In this form, or something near it, many mothers express themselves.

To answer the question adequately in a letter is practically impossible, because back of the stubbornness are mistakes in management which the mothers do not see themselves and so cannot describe. With such a gain in knowledge of individual causes it is impossible to suggest individual remedies. The most that can be done is to recommend a line of general reading on child management, which may be enlightening.

For, after all, the causes of most behavior difficulties are lack of understanding of the needs of the child and consequent errors in handling him. Whether it is disobedience, destructiveness, impudence, or stubbornness that have to be dealt with, the underlying cause is the same. It is this. That childhood lives and grows and thrives by being able to fulfill the laws that govern it, and if we do not understand those laws and so obstruct them, immediately we are confronted with behavior problems. A child must struggle to live and learn and not be crushed. And the stronger the will of the child, the greater the problem.

It is denial by the grownup resulting in thwarting and frustration that gives rise to most of these difficulties. When a child subconsciously realizes he is being thwarted or frustrated, he resists. The resistance may take a rather passive form like stubbornness or sulks, or an active form like tantrums, disobedience, or screaming. Life, nature, require that children do these things to survive, to fulfill their destiny.

If they are punished instead of having things explained, if they are forbidden to touch when it is their needed avenue to knowledge; if they are kept quiet when they need activity; if they are restrained when they need freedom; if they are ruthlessly taken from fascinating play; if they are hurried when their natural pace is deliberation; if they are forced into routine instead of led gently and cheerfully into it; if they are allowed to run wild when they need guidance; if, in a word, they are managed in opposition to the laws which govern childhood, then there will be trouble, discord, and lack of happiness for all concerned.

Black Tulle and White and Purple Go to Parties

BY DORIS BLAKE

The following is the sort of problem that makes you realize there are situations for which no concrete form of reasoning is available.

A woman, the mother of three in six years, still loves her husband dearly and believed until lately that he returned her devotion. He is still good to her and the children, she tells. But two years ago a three months' separation occurred while the man was in another state in search of a job. Due to extreme loneliness, he confessed to his wife at their reunion, he had an affair with a girl, but that was all over now. She, the wife, was his only love and always would be.

Six months ago another girl caught his interest. This hold seems to be more serious. The man does not drink or gamble and still is kind to his mate and children.

"I love my husband," the unhappy woman writes. "And God knows I have tried to be good to him and to please him in every possible way. But what can a woman do when she can't divorce him? I love him. I could not take care of myself and the children, with the oldest of the three but four and a half years. On his salary, it is impossible for me to look as attractive as the girl who works and has her money to spend on herself."

"After taking care of three babies, doing the housework, shopping, sewing, washing and ironing I am pretty tired when he comes home at night. I cannot go anywhere with him at night because there are the children."

The uselessness of advice directed at a husband like that is that he cannot see the rank unfairness of his wife's position. He probably is telling the other girl that his wife has not any time to spend with him; that her hours are all taken up with the youngsters, and he is practically a boarder in the place. All of which may be true enough. He may even be lonesome for the old single companionship again. But what of it? There are the children—three of them—and the average parent of one child can tell a man how her time and energy is eaten into with that single charge. But three of them and the housework to do—surely a man with a grain of fairness in his soul must see that the least he can offer in return is a generous and undivided devotion.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—These tulle fancies are as busy as a tulip fancier ever was. Yes, the old weaves are still with us and they are of prime interest to the debutante and the young matron. Plain black tulle, for example—one finds evening models of this on every side. Similarly, "white tulle" has engrossed much of the attention of those designing for the ballroom.

Lelong, for example, has created some stunning new models of tulle occurring, not in any of the "off white" tones, but in that dazzling pure white of our grandmother's era.

As against such unembellished weaves, however, how many variations of tulle have come to convert the unwilling soul? Many of them are embroidered in gold or silver motifs. A number have dazzling, fairy like tracery of rhinestones. One or two are embellished with motifs of panne velvet edged with rhinestones. Imagine the effect of the latter, too, all done in white. It looks as if Jack Frost were the couturier involved.

We are showing today a stunning model of black tulle with embroidered border of coral roses gracing each of its three ruffling tiers. The décolletage is banded in coral tulle and a narrow band of coral velvet ribbon played at the natural waistline ties in a bow at the back.

Before leaving the tulle gown one must speak of the sustained vogue of those purple and deep green tulle brought out some time ago. These are still here to present color interest to the fashionable evening.

"I am a young man out of work. My shoes are worn so badly that I can't look for a job. Do you know anybody who has an old pair no longer needed? I wear size 11 1/2."

This is a request I know a number of you will be able to fill. The shoes which you have decided to not look well enough for you to wear might be repaired to serve this young man. If you have a pair in his size won't you send them on for him?

Rodeo Performers Plan Show for Ailing Veterans

World war veterans at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital will witness a miniature preview of the fifth annual rodeo which opens Saturday at the Chicago Stadium. Cowboys and cowgirls here for Tex Austin's sports contest will put on an exhibition of trick and fancy roping this afternoon in the hospital's recreation hall. Patients in their beds will hear what is going on through loud speakers. Bob Calen of Fort Worth, Tex., will entertain with his voice and guitar.

On Monday afternoon Tex Austin's 40 and 8 convalescent camp patients will be guests of Mr. Austin at the rodeo, arrangement having been made to take them to the stadium.
